Re: National Futures Association: Proposed Amendments to Code of Arbitration and Member Arbitration Rules

Dear Mr. Kirkpatrick:

Pursuant to Section 17(j) of the Commodity Exchange Act ("CEA" or "Act"), as amended, National Futures Association ("NFA") hereby submits to the Commodity Futures Trading Commission ("CFTC" or "Commission") proposed amendments to NFA's Code of Arbitration ("Code") and Member Arbitration Rules ("Member Rules") to increase the fees NFA charges in connection with administering arbitration claims as well as restructure the claim tiers to reflect the fact that claim amounts have substantially increased over the years. In addition, NFA is proposing several other amendments related to claims involving Members and Associates who withdraw their membership during the course of an arbitration proceeding, the rules regarding service of process and the rules that govern the time and place of hearings. NFA's Board of Directors ("Board") unanimously approved the proposed amendments at its meeting on August 20, 2020.

NFA is invoking the "ten-day" provision of Section 17(j) of the CEA and plans to issue a Notice to Members establishing an effective date for this proposal as early as ten days after receipt of this submission by the Commission unless NFA is notified that the Commission has determined to review the proposal for approval.

(b) Service of Process.

Unless otherwise indicated, service may be accomplished by electronic mail, provided the party has an electronic mail address on record with NFA. However, if service by electronic mail is not acknowledged by the recipient, then NFA will serve documents using hand delivery, or by first class or certified mail, or by use of a generally recognized overnight delivery service to the party's last known business or home address on record with NFA until the party consents to service by electronic mail. ~~Documents may also be served by facsimile or electronic mail on NFA and any party who has consented to service by that method.~~ All documents which are served on NFA shall be concurrently served on each party who has filed a pleading using methods designed to ensure that NFA and all parties will receive the documents on the same day. Service on a party's representative shall be service on the party.

EXPLANATION OF PROPOSED AMENDMENTS

As described more fully below, the Board has approved amendments to the Code and Member Rules to increase the fees NFA charges in connection with administering arbitration claims and to restructure the claim amount tiers to reflect that claim amounts have increased substantially over the years. This proposal also includes several other amendments related to claims involving Members and Associates who withdraw their membership during the course of an arbitration proceeding, the rules regarding service of process and, finally, the rules that govern the time and place of hearings.

NFA's arbitration program administers claims under two sets of rules—the Code for claims involving a customer and the Member Rules for claims involving only Members and/or Associates. NFA adopted the Code in 1983 and the Member Rules in 1992. Both the Code and the Member Rules require the person filing a claim to pay a filing fee and a hearing fee at the time the claim is filed.

For claims filed under the Code, the filing fee offsets a small portion of the costs associated with NFA administering the claim.¹ The filing fee increases as the dollar amount of the claim increases due to the increased administration costs associated with higher claim amounts. The amount of the hearing fee is based on the type of proceeding (i.e., a summary proceeding, which is decided on the filings, or an oral hearing). For those claims that involve hearings, the hearing fee increases as the dollar amount of the claim increases since those claims involve more hearing days.

The filing fee amounts have remained virtually unchanged since the program's inception, and there have been minimal changes to fee structure to account for the increases in claim amounts that have risen substantially since the structure was adopted. Therefore, the Board has amended Sections 4, 6, and 11 of the Code to implement reasonable fee increases for filing fees and hearing fees and to amend the fee structure to reflect increased claim amounts. The approved amendments to the fee structure for filing and hearing fees consolidate the claim amount tiers on the low and mid-levels while expanding those at the highest end to address the increases to claim amounts that have occurred over the years.

In addition, the Board amended Sections 3, 5 and 11 of the Member Rules to implement the same percentage level increase to the Code filing fees, as well as similar modifications to the tiered fee structure. The fee structure and claim tiers under the Member Rules also have not been increased since inception. The fee structure increases are more significant on a dollar basis since the filing fees are purposely much higher under the Member Rules in order to reduce NFA's subsidization of these claims.

Moreover, the Board has amended Section 18 of the Code to require Members and Associates to pay the higher filing fees set forth under the Member Rules when filing a claim, counterclaim, cross-claim or third-party claim against customers in proceedings filed under the Code. NFA implemented higher fees in the Member Rules to ensure that NFA does not provide a significant subsidy to claims filed by Members and Associates, and the Board determined that those higher fees were appropriate when a Member or Associate files claims against customers.

Additionally, the Board has amended Sections 6 and 11 of the Code and Sections 5, 7, and 11 of the Member Rules to increase the fees used to provide a honorarium to the arbitrators—service fee, motion fee, and hearing fee, respectively. NFA has not increased these fees since 1999. These fee increases will not only help NFA continue to attract high quality arbitrators, but they will also more closely align NFA's honorariums with FINRA's, which is important since NFA and FINRA both recruit from the same pool of arbitrators.

Further, the Board also approved amendments to Section 10(j) of both the Code and Member Rules to clarify that a party does not need consent to withdraw a claim filed against an NFA Member or Associate that ceases being a Member or Associate during the pendency of an arbitration proceeding. The Board's amendments to Section 10(j) of the Code and Member Rules make it easier for customers to withdraw or amend their claims against Members or Associates who have withdrawn their membership during the course of an arbitration proceeding. This provides customers flexibility in deciding whether they should continue to pursue or amend their claims at NFA, pursue them in court or take no further action at all. The Board also approved amendments to Section 6(k) of the Code to clarify that an arbitration panel's consent is not required to amend a claim, provided that a party amends the claim within 60 days of notification that a Member or Associate has withdrawn. Additionally, the Board amended Section 9 of the Code to clarify that the panel will automatically grant a postponement request made by a customer and waive the required fee in the event a Member or Associate withdraws from membership within 60 days of the scheduled hearing or summary date.

The Board also amended the mandatory arbitration provision of Section 2 of the Member Rules to no longer require that all disputes between Members be arbitrated at NFA because this mandatory arbitration provision applied in instances where the Member has withdrawn their membership, provided that they were a Member at the time period relevant to the dispute. Given that NFA would have no ability to enforce an award or settlement against a withdrawn Member, the Board approved an amendment to make claims involving former Members voluntary, rather than mandatory.

To update the Code and Member Rules to reflect the widely accepted use of electronic mail ("e-mail"), the Board amended Section 16(b) of the Code and Section 15(b) of the Member Rules, which govern service of process during the administration of an arbitration claim. Currently, these provisions of the Code and Member Rules provide that NFA must use hand-delivery, first class or certified mail or overnight delivery service when serving documents on a party, and that NFA may only use e-mail if the party being served expressly consents to e-mail. At the time NFA amended these provisions to provide for electronic service in 2002, use of e-mail was not as common as now. Given the widely accepted use of e-mail, as well as the fact that e-mail is substantially more efficient than other methods of service, the Board amended these provisions to permit service by e-mail without the need for express consent.² The amendment requires acknowledgment of the e-mail and use other service methods if no acknowledgement is received.

Furthermore, given that the COVID-19 pandemic may restrict the ability to hold in-person hearings and prevent travel to attend hearings for an unknown period of time, NFA's Board has amended Section 9 of the Code and Member Rules regarding the time, location and method of hearings. Although these provisions of the Code and Member Rules give NFA's Secretary the sole discretion regarding the time and place of a hearing, they do not address whether the Secretary could order a hearing to take place virtually (e.g., via WebEx, Zoom, etc.). The amendments to Section 9 of the Code and Member Rules provide that, under extraordinary circumstances, such as an in-person hearing is not feasible, the Arbitration Panel may order the parties to conduct hearing sessions on a virtual basis.

In addition to the Board, NFA's FCM, IB, and CPO/CTA Advisory Committees also fully supported the proposed amendments. In particular, the Advisory Committees expressed overwhelming support for the increases to the arbitration fees and viewed them as reasonable in light of the fact that the filing fees have remained virtually unchanged since each program's inception.

As mentioned earlier, NFA is invoking the "ten-day" provision of Section 17(j) of the CEA. NFA intends to issue a Notice to Members establishing an effective date for the proposed amendments to NFA's Code of Arbitration and Member Arbitration Rules as early as ten days after receipt of this submission by the Commission, unless NFA is notified that the Commission has determined to review the proposal for approval.

² Members are required to provide NFA with an e-mail address when completing registration Form 7-R. However, an Associate is not required to provide NFA with an e-mail address when completing registration Form 8-R. Therefore, with respect to Associates, NFA will only serve documents on them using e-mail if they have provided a valid e-mail address to NFA.
