Introduction

The Commodity Exchange Act (Act) gives the Commodity Futures Trading Commission (CFTC) limited anti-fraud and anti-manipulation jurisdiction over off-exchange (also called over-the-counter or OTC) foreign currency futures and options transactions offered to or entered into with retail customers. Under the Act, only certain regulated entities may be counterparties to these off-exchange trades with retail customers. These regulated entities include registered futures commission merchants (FCMs) and certain of their affiliates. All other off-exchange futures and options transactions with U.S. retail customers are unlawful unless done on or subject to the rules of a regulated exchange.

Before going on, you should understand two of the terms that we will use throughout this Guide.

- For our purposes, a customer is any party to a forex trade who is not an eligible contract participant as defined in the Act. This includes individuals with assets of less than $10 million and most small businesses.
- As used in this Guide, forex transactions are leveraged off-exchange foreign currency transactions where one party is a customer (as defined in the previous bullet), except that the term does not include transactions that result in actual delivery within two days or that create an enforceable obligation to deliver between parties who are capable of making and taking delivery for business purposes.

NFA's forex requirements apply only to Members whose forex activities are not subject to oversight by another regulator. Who these Members are is discussed in the section called Members Subject to the Forex Requirements.

This Guide should help our Members who are subject to NFA's forex requirements understand those requirements. This Guide does not, however, include every requirement that may apply and does not deal with every detail of the requirements it does include. In addition to this Guide, you should read NFA's rules and interpretive notices and the CFTC's interpretive advisories and letters regarding forex transactions. NFA's most significant rules and interpretive notices regarding forex transactions are included in Appendices 1 and 2.

Registration

Counterparties

A firm may not act as a counterparty, or offer to act as a counterparty, to any forex transaction unless the firm is one of the regulated entities listed in the Act. These entities (authorized counterparties) are:

- financial institutions (e.g., banks and savings associations);
- certain insurance companies and their regulated subsidiaries or affiliates;
- financial holding companies;
- investment bank holding companies;
- registered broker-dealers;
- certain affiliated entities of registered broker-dealers;
- registered FCMs; and
- certain affiliated entities of registered FCMs.

Associated Persons

Individuals employed by an FCM to solicit or accept orders for exchange-traded futures and options must register as associated persons of the FCM. A March 1, 2002 CFTC staff advisory (the Advisory), which is referenced in Appendix 3, states that individuals employed by an FCM acting as counterparty must register as associated persons if they solicit or accept forex business for the FCM.

Introducing Entities

Generally, a separate entity that introduces customers to an FCM must register as an introducing broker (IB). The Advisory states, however, that entities that introduce customers to registered FCMs that act only as counterparties for forex transactions are not required to register as IBs, although they may do so voluntarily. If the entity introduces customers to a registered FCM that also solicits or accepts orders for exchange-traded futures or options, the entity must register as an IB or FCM.

The Advisory mentions several situations where a person who claims to be merely introducing business may actually be acting as a counterparty. In particular, a person may be acting as a counterparty if it:

- uses promotional material that fails to identify the regulated counterparty or that fails to make it clear who the counterparty is;
- receives funds from customers in its own name;
- sends funds from a regulated counterparty to customers; or

- does business with a regulated counterparty on less than a fully-disclosed basis.

In other words, a person is a counterparty, and must fall within one of the regulated categories, if a customer would reasonably believe that the person is the counterparty or if the transaction is structured so that it is actually two transactions – one transaction between the customer and the firm that has the relationship with the customer, and a second transaction between that firm and a regulated entity to offset the risk the firm took by acting as counterparty to the transaction with the customer.

Account Managers

Generally, a person exercising trading authority over a customer's futures or options account must register as a commodity trading advisor (CTA). The Advisory states, however, that a person that manages the funds of customers held by an authorized counterparty solely to trade forex is not required to register as a CTA but may do so voluntarily. Obviously, if the person also exercises trading authority over a customer's account for exchange-traded futures or options contracts, the person must register as a CTA.

A person exercising trading authority over a customer's account may not receive or hold the customer's funds. Those funds must be held by an authorized counterparty.

Pool Operators

The Act defines a commodity pool as an "investment trust, syndicate or similar form of enterprise operated for the purpose of trading commodity interests." Generally, a person who operates a commodity pool must register as a commodity pool operator (CPO) unless an exemption applies. The Advisory states, however, that a person operating a pool that limits its trading solely to forex and only trades with authorized counterparties is not required to register as a CPO, but may do so voluntarily.

Members Subject to the Forex Requirements

NFA's forex requirements apply only to Members who are not subject to oversight by another regulator. In particular, the requirements discussed in this Guide do not apply to members (or to their Associates acting on their behalf) that are:

- financial institutions (e.g., banks and savings associations);
- certain insurance companies and their regulated subsidiaries or affiliates;
- financial holding companies;
- investment bank holding companies;
- registered broker-dealers that are members of NASD; and
- Material Associated Persons of registered broker-dealers that are members of NASD. These are affiliates for which the registered broker-dealer makes and keeps records under the Securities and Exchange Commission's risk assessment requirements.

All other NFA Members that engage in a forex business with customers are subject to the forex requirements, although some of those requirements apply only to Forex Dealer Members. A Member is a Forex Dealer Member if it acts as counterparty to or offers to act as counterparty to at least one customer. (See NFA Bylaw 306).

Members that do not act as counterparties are subject to various anti-fraud, ethical conduct, and supervision requirements if they solicit customers, introduce customers to a counterparty, or manage accounts on behalf of customers. (See NFA Compliance Rule 2-39.) Additionally, as of November 30, 2008, Members that manage forex accounts on behalf of customers or offer pools that trade forex must provide prospective clients and pool participants with a disclosure document and file it with NFA prior to use. Additionally, any trading program or pool that includes forex trading must provide disclosures similar to those currently required under CFTC Part 4 regulations regarding trading in on-exchange products. Similar to traditional CPOs, a Member operating a pool trading forex is also required to provide periodic (monthly or quarterly) account statements and an annual report to the pool participants. (See NFA Compliance Rules 2-41 and 2-42),

Soliciting Customers

In developing its forex requirements, NFA's primary concern was to ensure that the requirements provide adequate protection for customers without imposing undue burdens on NFA Members. NFA also recognized that, because of the differences between forex transactions and traditional exchange-traded futures and options, some of NFA's futures rules may not be appropriate for forex transactions. Compliance Rule 2-36 sets out the general standards that apply to Members and their Associates in connection with forex transactions, and the Interpretive Notice entitled "Forex Transactions" explains how these standards apply.

Customer Information and Risk Disclosure

The Interpretive Notice requires Members to obtain certain information from customers and to provide them with understandable and timely disclosure on essential features of forex trading. The information must be obtained, and the disclosures must be given, before the customer makes the first trade. Members must update this disclosure prior to entering into new forex transactions with current customers if failing to update the information would make it misleading.

Members or their Associates must obtain, at a minimum, the customer's name, address, principal occupation or business, current estimated annual income and net worth, approximate age, and previous investment and trading experience. All forex customers must receive disclosures about the characteristics of the forex transactions and the particular risks of those transactions, and you must supplement this disclosure when necessary. For example, if a customer does not have experience trading forex, you must determine what additional information the customer needs to make an informed decision on whether to enter into forex transactions. In some circumstances (e.g., if the customer is living on social security or is looking for a safe investment), you may even have to tell the customer that forex trading is too risky for that particular customer. A Member, however, is not required to reject the account if a customer, after receiving the additional disclosures, still insists on trading forex.

NFA does not require Members to provide their Associates with any sort of grid-like formula to identify those customers who require additional risk disclosure. Your firm should, however, be able to articulate the general factors its Associates consider when deciding whether to give additional risk disclosure.

There are also certain prescribed disclosures that a Forex Dealer Member must provide to all customers. The firm must disclose to the customer that the funds used for trading forex may not receive the same protections under the bankruptcy code as those funds that are used to margin exchange-traded futures and options. When a customer first opens an account and at least once a year thereafter, the Forex Dealer Member must provide information regarding NFA's Background Affiliation Status Information Center (BASIC). Additionally, a Forex Dealer Member must provide both the bid and the offer when a customer enters an order.

Forex Dealer Members must provide customers with a disclosure making clear that the firm is acting as counterparty in forex transactions and may profit from the market moving against the customer. Unless alternative language is approved by NFA, this disclosure must be the language prescribed in the Interpretive Notice. This disclosure must be prominently displayed in uppercase letters in at least 10 point size type and separately acknowledged by the customer at or before the time the customer first engages in a forex transaction.

NFA has approved alternative language to be used in lieu of the prescribed disclosure where the Forex Dealer Member's business model, unlike the typical counterparty relationship, has the following characteristics: (1) when a retail customer enters an order on the Member's platform, the Forex Dealer Member automatically (without human intervention and without exception) enters into the same transaction with another counterparty, creating an offsetting position in its own name; (2) the Forex Dealer Member confirms to the retail customer the price at which the order has been executed, which is the same price at which the Member entered into the offsetting position; (3) the Member does not profit from any resulting market movement as its offsetting transaction will result in the same profit or loss as the retail customer's transaction; and (4) the Forex Dealer Member's sole manner of compensation is a commission charge on each trade.

If your firm's business model has all these characteristics it may use the alternative language after providing NFA with written notice of its intention to use this alternative language, with a representation that its business model is the same as that described. The notice must be signed by a principal of the Forex Dealer Member that is also an NFA Associate.

A Forex Dealer Member must provide disclosure on the essential features of forex trading even if it did not solicit the customer. Your firm does not, however, have to obtain the customer information and provide any additional disclosure if the account was solicited by another NFA Member, since that Member is required to do so. If a non-Member solicited the customer, however, these obligations fall on the Forex Dealer Member.

Communications with the Public and Promotional Materials
Members should adopt and enforce written procedures regarding communications with the public. These procedures should address oral sales solicitations as well as promotional material, and they should be reasonably designed to prevent your firm, its Associates, and any non-member solicitors from making any communication with potential or current customers that operates as a fraud or deceit, uses a high-pressure approach, or implies that forex transactions are appropriate for all customers. For example, you may not represent that forex funds deposited with a Member are "segregated" or given special protection under the bankruptcy laws. If your firm or non-member solicitors represent that your services are commission free, you must prominently disclose how you are compensated in near proximity to this representation. Additionally, you may not represent that you offer "no-slippage" or guarantee fills unless you can demonstrate that all orders on your platform have been executed at the price initially quoted when the order was placed on the platform and you do not have the authority to adjust customer accounts so as to have the effect of changing the price at which the order was executed. In other words, if you "re-quote" prices or have the contractual right to make adjustments that directly or indirectly change the price of an order after it is executed you cannot claim to have no slippage.

If you mention the possibility of profit, you must include an equally prominent statement of the risk of loss. In addition, any references to actual past trading profits or testimonials must also mention that past results are not necessarily indicative of future results. You should also ensure that the communication does not discuss past performance or include a testimonial unless the performance is similar to the actual performance of the firm's reasonably comparable accounts for the same time period. Any reference to hypothetical performance results that could have been achieved using your trading system must comply with NFA Compliance Rule 2-29(c) and the related Interpretive Notice as if the performance results were for on-exchange transactions. Finally, promotional materials should never guarantee against loss.

A supervisory employee should approve promotional materials before they are used to ensure that they do not deceive the public or contain any material misstatements of fact. The firm's written procedures should say who will be responsible for reviewing and approving the promotional material. The person responsible for the review and approval must be, or be under the ultimate supervision of, a listed principal who is also an NFA Associate. The review and approval must be documented in writing. Additionally, a supervisory employee should be responsible for reviewing the promotional materials of non-members soliciting on behalf of a Forex Dealer Member to ensure that they are not deficient. As discussed more fully below, a Forex Dealer Member will be held responsible for any violations of NFA requirements by non-members soliciting accounts for or managing accounts at the Forex Dealer Member.

Your firm must maintain all promotional material for five years from the date of last use and must keep it readily accessible for the first two years.

Furthermore, Members must maintain supporting documentation for all statements, claims and performance results included in promotional materials.

Customer Orders

Managing Customer Accounts

Forex Dealer Members and their Associates may not exercise trading authority over a customer account for which the Forex Dealer Member is, or is offering to be the counterparty.

Offsetting Transactions

A Forex Deal Member may not carry offsetting positions in a customer account but must offset the positions on a first-in, first-out basis. A customer may, however, direct the FDM to offset same-size transactions even if there are older transactions of a different size, but the transaction must be offset against the oldest transaction of that size.

Price Adjustments

A Forex Dealer Member is prohibited from directly or indirectly canceling or adjusting the price of executed customer orders, with two exceptions.

The first exception is where the adjustment is done to settle a customer complaint in the favor of the customer. A Forex Dealer Member may also adjust orders even in the absence of individual customer complaints if the customer were adversely affected by a technical problem with the Member's trading platform. However, a Forex Dealer Member may not adjust prices on customer orders that benefitted from the error and may not cherry-pick which account to adjust.

The second exception is where the Member uses exclusively "straight-through processing" such that the Member automatically (without human intervention and without exception) enters into an offsetting position in its name with another counterparty and that counterparty cancels or adjusts the price at which the position was executed.

A Forex Dealer Member that adjusts an executed customer order based on an adjustment by a counterparty must provide notice to the affected customer within fifteen minutes of the customer order having been executed. The notice must state that the Member intends to cancel or adjust the price of the order to reflect the adjusted price provided by the Forex Dealer Member's counterparty and must include documentation of the cancellation or price adjustment from the counterparty.

The Member must either cancel or adjust all customer orders executed during the same time period and in the same currency pair or option regardless of whether they were buy or sell orders. All cancellations or adjustments of executed customer orders must be reviewed and approved in writing by a listed principal of the Member who is also an associated person. Such review must include the documentation from the counterparty and must be provided to NFA. Finally, any Member that may elect to cancel or adjust executed customer orders based upon liquidity provider price changes must provide customers with written notice of that fact prior to the time the customer first engage in forex transactions with the Forex Dealer Member.

Recordkeeping and Reporting

Each Member must maintain books and records necessary to conduct their business, and Forex Dealer Members must provide customers with timely and accurate notice of the status of their accounts.

Recordkeeping Requirements

Compliance Rule 2-10 requires each Member to maintain books and records necessary to conduct its business. Members should adopt procedures to create and maintain current and accurate books and records to support and explain their forex activities. FCM Members, including Forex Dealer Members, must prepare and maintain those records in an office in the United States or in a jurisdiction the CFTC has found to have a comparable regulatory scheme for purposes of Part 30 of its rules if the member is subject to that regulatory scheme. Other Members, and FCM Members with their primary business office in the U.S., should maintain their books and records at their main business office.

Members must file all records required to be filed with NFA in English. In addition, financial reports required to be filed with NFA must be prepared using U.S. Dollars and according to U.S. accounting standards. Members must also provide English translations of other foreign-language documents and records when requested by NFA.

All required books and records must be kept for five years and must be readily accessible for the first two years of the five-year period. Members may keep hard or micrographic copies (e.g., microfilm or microfiche) of these records or may use a suitable electronic storage media. An electronic storage media is suitable if it is a digital storage medium or system that preserves the applicable records in a permanent format, indexes the data and records the data's date, and can be immediately converted to hard copy. Members must make the records available to NFA.

A Forex Dealer Member must adopt a written policy detailing its procedures for calculating rollover or interest charges and payments. The policy must include the factors that are considered along with the names of any sources for the factors. The Member should document the factors reviewed and any related transactions entered into so that the calculation can be replicated.

Customer Statements

Written Confirmations

Forex Dealer Members must provide written confirmations to customers within one business day after any activity in the customer's account. Account activity includes offsetting transactions, rollovers, deliveries, option exercise, option expirations, trades that have been reversed or adjusted, and monetary adjustments. The confirmation must contain the following:

- the transaction date;
- the transaction type (e.g., new position, offsetting position, rollover, adjustment);
- the currency pair;
- buy or sell (if a new or offsetting position);
- the size;
- the price or premium (for new or offsetting positions or price adjustments);
- the price or premium change (for price adjustments);
- any monetary adjustments (debit or credit);
- the net profit or loss for offsetting positions; and
- all charges for each transaction (e.g., rollover interest, any commissions, fees, or charges).

Daily Statements

Daily statements provided to customers must include the account equity as of the end of the previous day. These may be provided electronically if they are readily accessible to customers.

Monthly Summaries

On a monthly basis, Forex Dealer Members must provide a summary of all forex transactions and other account activity to each customer that has open positions at the end of the month or changes in account balance or equity since the prior statement. For all other open accounts, Forex Dealer Members should provide summaries at least quarterly. The monthly or quarterly statements must contain the following:

- the account equity at the beginning and ending of the reporting period;
- all initiating or offsetting transactions;
- all open positions;
- all deposits and withdrawals during the period;
- all other monetary adjustments (debits and credits);

- the amount of cash in the account (excluding non-cash collateral and unrealized profits and losses); and
- a breakdown by type of all fees and charges during the period.

With the customer's prior consent, Members may provide confirmations and monthly/quarterly statements on-line or by other electronic means. The Forex Dealer Member should maintain a hard copy of the customer's signed consent.

Supervision

Members and their Associates that have supervisory responsibilities must diligently supervise the Member's forex business. This includes supervising the activities of the Member's employees and agents. Forex Dealer Members must also supervise the activities of affiliates that act as counterparties to forex transactions.

Members must establish, maintain, and enforce written supervisory procedures reasonably designed to detect and prevent violations of NFA rules. NFA has provided Members with guidance on minimum standards of supervision through interpretive notices issued under NFA Compliance Rule 2-9, which are listed at the end of this Guide. While these interpretive notices do not directly apply to forex transactions, the principles included in them are equally applicable to those transactions.

NFA recognizes that, given the differences in the size and complexity of the operations of NFA Members, there must be some degree of flexibility in determining what constitutes "diligent supervision" for each firm. Your firm should tailor its procedures to its unique circumstances as long as they meet certain minimum requirements.

All Members subject to NFA's forex requirements should have procedures to address the following:

- screening employees who will solicit transactions from, or provide advice to, customers or manage customer accounts to see if they are subject to any of the statutory disqualifications in Section 8a of the Act and, if so, to determine what supervision they will require;
- monitoring communications with the public, including sales solicitations and web sites, and approving promotional material;
- reviewing the information obtained from and provided to customers solicited by the firm and its employees to ensure that the appropriate information has been obtained and provided; and
- handling and resolving customer complaints.

A Forex Dealer Member's procedures should also include:

- screening employees who will solicit transactions from forex customers to ensure that they are registered with the CFTC as associated persons;
- screening third-party non-members who introduce customer business or manage customer accounts to see if the third party or any of its principals is subject to a statutory disqualification under Section 8a of the Act and, if so, determining if the Forex Dealer

Member should perform additional background research regarding the third party – the screening process should include checking BASIC and any other readily available sources and asking the third party to represent that neither it, nor any of its principals, is subject to a statutory disqualification or to identify and explain any statutory disqualifications;

- reviewing on a regular basis the solicitation materials of non-members that introduce customers to the Forex Dealer Member, and procedures for quickly identifying and correcting any deficiencies in such materials;
- reviewing disclosures provided to customers to ensure that they are understandable, timely, and provide sufficient information;
- reviewing and analyzing the forex activity in customer accounts, including discretionary customer accounts; and
- handling customer funds, including accepting security deposits.

An adequate supervisory program also includes periodic on-site visits to branch offices and guaranteed IBs that conduct forex business on behalf of the Member. Your firm should consider the characteristics of the branch office or guaranteed IB when deciding how often to visit it and what the visit should cover. These characteristics include the amount of business it generates; the number of customer complaints; the training and experience of its personnel; and the frequency and nature of the problems that originate from that office or IB. You should also take these considerations into account when determining whether and how often you should conduct on-site visits of non-members that solicit customers for your firm.

Members must also ensure that their employees are properly trained to perform their duties, to abide by NFA requirements, and to handle customer accounts. How formal the training program is will depend on the size of the firm and the nature of its business.

A non-FCM affiliate of a Forex Dealer Member may act as counterparty to forex transactions with customers if, and only if, the affiliate meets the requirements in Section 2(c)(2)(B)(i)(II)(cc)(BB) of the Act. In particular, the Forex Dealer Member must directly or indirectly control, be controlled by, or be under common control with the affiliate, the Forex Dealer Member must make and keep records concerning the financial activities of the affiliate under the CFTC's risk assessment requirements, and the Forex Dealer Member must maintain the required minimum adjusted net capital (at least $7.5 million). If a Forex Dealer Member has one or more affiliates that act as a counterparty to forex customers based on their affiliation with the Forex Dealer Member, that Member must supervise the affiliates' forex activities to ensure they comply with the same requirements that apply to the Forex Dealer Member. Your firm should conduct periodic on-site audits of those affiliates and must make their books and records available to NFA upon request. NFA can take an enforcement action against a Forex Dealer Member if its affiliate violates the standards imposed by NFA requirements.

Electronic Trading Systems

The NFA Interpretive Notice entitled "Compliance Rule 2-36(e): Supervision of the Use of Electronic Trading Systems" provides guidance as to what steps a Forex Dealer Member must take to fulfill its supervisory responsibilities with regard to the firm's electronic trading system. The requirements also apply to a Forex Dealer Member that uses another entity's trading system through a "white-labeling" agreement.

A Forex Dealer Member must adopt and enforce written procedures to address security, capacity, credit and risk-management controls, recordkeeping, and trade integrity with regard to its electronic trading platform. Each year, a principal who is also registered as an associated person of the Member must certify that the firm has met the relevant standards for their electronic trading system.

Security

Members must protect the reliability and confidentiality of customer orders and account information, and the procedures must assign responsibility for overseeing the process to one or more individuals who understand how it works and who are capable of evaluating whether the process complies with the firm's procedures.

Capacity

Members must maintain adequate personnel and facilities for the timely and efficient delivery of customer orders and reporting of executions and for the timely and efficient execution of customer orders. In addition, the procedures must be designed to handle customer complaints about order delivery, execution, and reporting and to handle those complaints in a timely manner.

Credit and Risk-Management Controls

Members must have procedures reasonably designed to prevent customers from entering into trades that create undue financial risks for the Member or the Member's other customers. Forex Dealer Member's who have trading platforms that claim to automatically liquidate positions before an account goes into a deficit must set the automatic liquidation levels high enough so that positions will be closed out at prices that will prevent the account from going into a deficit position under all but the most extraordinary market conditions.

Recordkeeping

The Member's trading system must record and maintain essential information regarding customer orders and account activity. The electronic system must record and maintain information regarding:

- Transaction records for orders (which must include the types of information contained on orders for exchange-traded commodities, such as the date and time an order was received) and rollovers;
- Account records showing the financial status of each account; and
- Time and price records similar to those maintained by the futures exchanges.

The Member's trading system must also produce daily exception reports showing price adjustments and orders filled outside of the price range displayed by the system when the customer order reached the platform. The Member should review these reports for suspicious or unjustifiable activity.

Trade Integrity

Members must have in place procedures reasonably designed to ensure the integrity of trades placed on their trading platforms. There are three areas of particular concern:

- Pricing. Trading platforms must be designed to provide bids and offers that are reasonably related to current market prices and conditions.
- Slippage. Electronic trading platforms should be designed to ensure that any slippage is based on real market conditions. Furthermore, if a Forex Dealer Member advertises "no slippage," the platform should be designed to execute a market order at the price displayed when the order is entered and to execute a stop order at the stop price.
- Rollovers. The platform should be designed to ensure that automatic rollovers comply with the terms disclosed in the customer agreement.

Doing Business with Non-Members

Third-party solicitors and account managers are generally not required to register with the CFTC or become Members of NFA. Except for Forex Dealer Members, or persons excluded from the definition of a Forex Dealer Member under NFA Bylaw 306(b), however, no Member may conduct business with non-Members when acting as a fully disclosed forex intermediary.

If non-Members solicit customers to open accounts with, or manage customer accounts at, a Forex Dealer Member, NFA can take an enforcement action against the Forex Dealer Member for the non-Member's conduct if that conduct would violate NFA requirements when engaged in by an NFA Member. This is true even if the non-Member is not the Forex Dealer Member's agent.

This rule allows NFA to bring a disciplinary action even if a Forex Dealer Member acts diligently and has no knowledge of the non-Member's conduct. As a practical matter, however, NFA will not take disciplinary action unless the Forex Dealer Member knew or should have known of the non-Member's conduct or failed to exercise due diligence when establishing and maintaining the relationship with the non-Member.

The Forex Dealer Member should adopt and enforce written procedures to review the activities of non-Members soliciting for it. The procedures should include, among other things, a regular review of the trading being conducted in the accounts solicited, introduced, or managed by these non-Members. The Forex Dealer Member should also have procedures for following up on any customer complaints received by the firm, including a written description of the investigation made and any resolution of the complaint. Further, supervisory procedures should include a regular review of all promotional material used by any non-Member third-party. The Forex Dealer Member should maintain copies of all promotional materials reviewed, along with a written record of the review conducted and any deficiencies corrected, and should make them available for the periods specified in the recordkeeping section of this notice. A supervisory employee that is, or is under the ultimate supervision of, a listed principal who is also an NFA Associate should conduct the review of the non-Member's activities.

Forex Dealer Members are not subject to discipline for the actions of non-Members who are exempt from the Forex Dealer Member category based on their status as regulated entities or who would be exempt from CFTC registration if they were acting in the same capacity in connection with exchange-traded futures contracts (e.g., persons located outside the U.S. that solicit, introduce, or manage accounts solely for persons located outside the U.S.). Even if your firm is not subject to discipline for a non-Member's actions, NFA can still discipline it for its own actions. For example, a Member violates NFA rules if it has actual or constructive notice that a non-Member has engaged in fraudulent conduct and the Member fails to take appropriate action.

Dues

For Forex Dealer Members, NFA Bylaw 1301(e) imposes a surcharge that is graduated according to the firm's gross annual revenue from forex transaction. Profits and losses from proprietary trades are not to be included in gross revenue for this purpose.

A Member becomes responsible for these dues when it first offers to be a counterparty to a forex transaction or accepts a forex trade. NFA will send the member an invoice for the minimum dues ($50,000 or $45,875) minus any amount already paid for that year. Thereafter, NFA assesses dues on the firm's membership renewal date and will base them on the Forex Dealer Member's most recent certified financial statement. All Forex Dealer Members must file their certified financial statements with NFA even if NFA is not the firm's designated self-regulatory organization (DSRO). If NFA is not the DSRO, the firm may file the statement either in hard copy or through Winjammer, in which case the firm will need to contact NFA for a personal identification number. All other Forex Dealer Members must file through Winjammer.

The following table should help you determine how much your firm will owe in annual dues.

Amount of Annual Gross Revenue from Forex Transactions	Annual Dues if NFA is the DSRO	Annual Dues if NFA is not the DSRO
$500,000 or less	$50,000	$45,875
More than $500,000 but not more than $2 million	$75,000	$70,875
More than $2 million, but not more than $5 million	$100,000	$95,875
More than $5 million	$125,000	$120,875

The only exception to the dues set forth above is a situation in which NFA does not serve as the DSRO for a Forex Dealer Member and the DSRO has agreed to examine the Forex Dealer Member's forex activities. In this case, the surcharge paid by the Forex Dealer Member, regardless of gross annual revenue, is $12,000. Accordingly, for such a Forex Dealer Member the dues to be assessed at the time it offers to be a counterparty to a forex transaction or accepts a forex trade (whichever is earlier), and on its membership renewal date thereafter, will be $13,500.

In addition to the annual dues, Bylaw 1301(e) also imposes on Forex Dealer Members an annual fee based on the number of solicitors it uses.

Each Forex Dealer Member that is subject to discipline for the activities of solicitors and account managers shall pay a separate annual fee. In determining whether this fee applies, a Forex Dealer Member must calculate the highest number of solicitors and account managers it was responsible for at any one point during the year. This number does not include solicitors and account managers that are Members of NFA, excluded from the definition of Forex Dealer Member under Bylaw 306(b), or would be exempt from Commission registration if they were acting in the same capacity in connection with exchange-traded futures contracts.

The following table should help you determine how much your firm will owe in annual fees based on the number of solicitors.

Number of Unregulated Solicitors	Annual Fee
1-4	$5,000
5-19	$10,000
20-99	$25,000
100 or more	$50,000

The final component of Bylaw 1301(e) is an assessment fee of .0001% on the notional value of each initiating (non-rollover) forex transaction. For transactions with a notional value less than $10,000, the Forex Dealer Member may aggregate separate transactions and pay $.01 on each multiple of $10,000. Forex Dealer Members will be required to pay this monthly and will be provided with a monthly invoice from NFA which the Forex Dealer Member must complete and submit with its fees.

Security Deposits

Forex Dealer Members must collect security deposits from customers. These security deposits help protect Forex Dealer Members against losses from defaulting customers, which, if significant enough, could cause a Forex Dealer Member to become insolvent and put the funds of its other, non-defaulting customers at risk. The security deposit must be at least:

- (i) One percent of the notional value of transactions in the British pound, the Swiss franc, the Canadian dollar, the Japanese yen, the Euro, the Australian dollar, the New Zealand dollar, the Swedish krona, the Norwegian krone, and the Danish krone;
- (ii) Four percent of the notional value of other currency transactions;
- (iii) For short options, the above amount plus the premium received; and
- (iv) For long options, the entire premium.

Forex Dealer Members may, of course, charge their customers higher security deposits.

Where the two in a pair currencies are in different categories, the Forex Dealer Member must collect the higher percentage amount. Therefore, if the transaction pairs a foreign currency with the U.S. dollar, the security deposit is based on the foreign currency. If the transaction pairs a currency that qualifies for a 1% deposit with a currency that does not, the Forex Dealer Member must collect a 4% security deposit for the entire transaction.

Example:

Currency Pair	Security Deposit
EUR/USD	1%
CND/JPY	1%
CND/BRL	4%
USD/MXN	4%
BRL/MXN	4%

For short options, the Forex Dealer Member must collect the security deposit plus the premium the customer received. For long options, the Forex Dealer Member must simply collect the entire premium from the customer.

The Forex Dealer Member must calculate the security deposit when the positions are initiated and at least daily thereafter. The firm must make this daily calculation while customer positions are open. In other words, your firm may not calculate the security deposit while the positions are being rolled over if your firm treats its customers as flat during that period. NFA requirements, however, do not prohibit Forex Dealer Members from computing security deposits more than once a day.

In addition to cash, a Forex Dealer Member may accept instruments described in CFTC Rule 1.25 as collateral for customers' security deposits. The collateral must be in the Forex Dealer Member's possession and control and is subject to the haircuts in CFTC Rule 1.17.

Financial Requirements

NFA's minimum financial requirements help protect customers and market participants by requiring Members to maintain enough capital to remain solvent and meet their financial obligations.

Forex Dealer Member Capital Requirements

Each Forex Dealer Member must maintain adjusted net capital equal to or in excess of the greatest of:

- (i) $20,000,000; or
- (ii) $20,000,000 plus 5% of all liabilities owed to customers exceeding $10,000,000. Any Forex Dealer Member that uses straight-through-processing for all customer transactions is not subject to this requirement. Straight-through-processing refers to platforms that automatically (without human intervention and without exception) enter into an identical but opposite transaction with another counterparty, creating an offsetting position in the Forex Dealer Member's own name. A Forex Dealer Member that offers several platforms will be exempt from this requirement only if each platform executes all customer orders using straight-through-processing; or
- (iii) For FCMs, any other amount required under NFA Financial Requirements Section 1.

Within 17 business days after the end of each month, all Forex Dealer Members must formally compute their adjusted net capital and minimum financial requirement as of the end of that month and must maintain this computation. A Forex Dealer Member must, however, be able to demonstrate compliance with the applicable capital requirements at all times.

Any Forex Dealer Member whose adjusted net capital falls below its minimum capital requirements must immediately give telephonic notice to the CFTC and its DSRO. The firm must also confirm its telephonic notice by telegraph or facsimile.

Net Capital Calculation

The formula for determining Adjusted Net Capital is:

$$\text{Current Assets} - \text{Liabilities} - \text{Charges Against Net Capital} = \text{Adjusted Net Capital}$$

CFTC Regulation 1.17 defines these terms. Your firm's financial statements must be prepared according to generally accepted accounting principles (GAAP). In some cases, however, CFTC Regulation 1.17 is more restrictive than GAAP. You must always follow CFTC Regulation 1.17 when calculating your firm's net capital.

Forex Dealer Members must prepare CFTC Form 1-FR and file it with NFA and its DSRO on a monthly basis. An independent public accountant must certify the financial statement prepared as of the firm's fiscal year end. Although the Form 1-FR contains a number of different financial statements, only the applicable statements need to be prepared for each filing.

Unaudited Form 1-FR must contain the following:

- statement of financial condition;
- statement of the computation of minimum capital requirements;
- statement of changes in ownership equity; and
- statement of changes in liabilities subordinated to the claims of general creditors pursuant to a satisfactory subordination agreement (if applicable).

The certified year-end Form 1-FR must also include:

- the statement of income and
- the statement of cash flows.

The certified statement must also contain any necessary footnote disclosures, an auditor's opinion covering all statements, and an auditor's supplemental report on material inadequacies.

NFA must receive unaudited Form 1-FRs within 17 business days after the statement date. NFA must receive audited Form 1-FRs within 90 days after the statement date.

The instructions for the Form 1-FR generally say where to classify items on the form. When the CFTC adopted Form 1-FR, however, registered firms generally did not conduct forex business. As a result, the form does not clearly indicate how to account for some items related to the forex activities of Forex Dealer Members.

Forex Dealer Members should account for their forex activities on the Form 1-FR as follows. On the asset side of the balance sheet, you should classify funds received from customers for forex transactions on the line designated as "other assets." On the liability side, the firm should classify amounts owed to customers under accounts payable on the line designated as "other." On the Statement of Income (Loss), you should classify the firm's income or loss from forex transactions under the "other income" section of the statement.

Assets Covering Liabilities to Retail Forex Customers

Under Financial Requirements Section 14, a Forex Dealer Member must calculate the amount owed to U.S. forex customers and hold assets equal or in excess of that amount at qualified U.S. institutions or institutions in money center countries, as defined in CFTC Rule 1.49. To calculate the amount owed, you add up the net liquidating values of each forex account that liquidates to a positive number, using the fair market value for each asset other than open positions and the current market value for open positions.

Assets held in a money center country are not eligible to cover the amount owed to U.S. customers unless the Forex Dealer Member and the qualifying institution have entered into an agreement, acceptable to NFA, authorizing the institution to provide NFA and the CFTC with information regarding the Forex Dealer Member's accounts and to provide that information directly to NFA or the CFTC upon their request. This signed agreement must be filed with NFA.

Any Forex Dealer Member funds that are not held in a qualifying institution as noted in Financial Requirements Section 14 may not be considered as part of assets covering liabilities to U.S. Forex customers.

Assets at Affiliates and Unregulated Entities

A Forex Dealer Member may not include assets held by an affiliate (unless approved by NFA) or an unregulated person in its current assets for purposes of determining its adjusted net capital under CFTC Rule 1.17. An affiliate is any person that controls, is controlled by, or is under common control with the Forex Dealer Member.

Capital Charges for Forex Positions

Forex Dealer Members must take a capital charge on all uncovered proprietary positions, although the firm may net on-exchange and off-exchange positions when determining the firm's uncovered position. Uncovered off-exchange proprietary positions are subject to a haircut charge that depends on the underlying currency. Net balances in British pounds, Japanese yen, Canadian dollars, Swiss francs and the Euro are subject to a 6% charge. Net balances in all other currencies are subject to a 20% charge. Uncovered positions on an exchange are subject to a charge equal to 150% of the exchange's maintenance margin.

When calculating its net position, your firm may include foreign currency held in deposit, investment, or trading accounts at banks, FCMs, broker-dealers, and similar entities if the following conditions are met:

- the foreign currency is unencumbered and immediately accessible, making it available to satisfy your firm's obligations to its customers, and

- your firm treats the foreign currency in the account consistently for capital purposes (i.e., the foreign currency is always included when determining the firm's net position).

A Forex Dealer Member, however, may not include positions at an affiliate or an unregulated person when calculating its net position for purposes of the capital charge.

Subordinated Loan Agreements

Proceeds from subordinated loan agreements may be included in the firm's capital if the agreement meets the requirements in CFTC Regulation 1.17(h) and has been filed with and approved by the firm's DSRO. The firm must submit a signed copy of the agreement to its DSRO at least 10 days prior to the proposed effective date. A subordination agreement must include the name and address of the lender, state the business relationship of the lender to the firm, and indicate whether the firm carried funds or securities for the lender at or about the time firm files the proposed agreement. If a lender contributes 10 percent or more of the firm's capital, then the firm must list the lender as a principal.

In addition, the Member's DSRO must approve prepayments or special prepayments, and the Member must give its DSRO notice of accelerated maturity. The Member must also submit amendments to existing subordination agreements to its DSRO for approval. Finally, NFA has developed standardized Cash Subordination Loan Agreements and Secured Demand Notes. You can obtain copies of these agreements from NFA's web site at www.nfa.futures.org.

Financial Books and Records

FCM Members are required to prepare and maintain ledgers or other similar records that summarize each transaction affecting the Member's assets, liability, income, expense and capital accounts and include appropriate references to supporting documents. These ledgers must be classified into the account classification subdivisions on the CFTC Form 1-FR. Generally, the firm's records would include basic accounting documents such as a General Ledger and a Cash Receipts and Disbursements Journal.

In order to demonstrate compliance with the capital requirements, a Forex Dealer Member should make and maintain daily records showing the transactions executed that day and their effect on the firm's obligations to its customers. The record of daily trades should show, at a minimum, the date, time, currency pair, price, and size of each transaction; commissions and fees; and the person for whom the transaction was made. For options, the record should include whether the option is a put or a call, the strike price, the delta, and the premium. The record of obligations to customers should include the gross profits and the gross losses to customers, the firm's open currency exposures to customers, the sum of the customers' cash balances, and the net liquidating value of all customer accounts combined.

The individuals responsible for who preparing a Forex Dealer Member's books and records must be under the ultimate supervision of a listed principal and registered associated person of the Member. Such principal is also responsible for researching and selecting the independent public accountant that certifies the firm's annual financial statements.

Financial Internal Controls

Prior to conducting business as a Forex Dealer Member, a firm must demonstrate to NFA that the Member has adequate internal financial controls. The Forex Dealer Member must demonstrate that its system of internal controls provides reasonable assurance regarding the reliability of financial reporting and the preparation of financial statements for external purposes in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles. The Forex Dealer Member must also demonstrate that its system of internal financial controls has no material weaknesses and that it is adequate for establishing and maintaining internal controls over financial reporting by the Member.

A Forex Dealer Member may satisfy this obligation by obtaining an internal control report that is prepared and certified by an independent public accountant who is registered under Section 102 of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act. The internal control report shall contain, at a minimum, a detailed explanation of the examination performed by the accountant and a representation by the accountant that it has examined and tested the Forex Dealer Member's system of internal controls and that the controls comply with the above standards.

If NFA believes that a Member's internal controls are inadequate at any time, NFA's Compliance Director may require it to provide to NFA an internal control report that is prepared and certified by an independent public accountant who is registered under Section 102 of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act. The internal control report shall meet the above standards.

Weekly Forex Reporting Requirements

Each Forex Dealer Member must be able to properly account for all funds received from and owed to customers. Forex Dealer Members should prepare a daily computation showing the total amount of customer funds on deposit, the total amount of customer open positions, and the total amount due to customers. The firm must file with NFA weekly electronic reports showing this and other financial information. The report must be prepared as of the last business day of the week and must be filed by noon on the following business day, using NFA's Easy File system. Submitting the report certifies that the person filing it is a supervisory employee that is, or is under the ultimate supervision of, a listed principal who is also an NFA Associate, is duly authorized to bind the Forex Dealer Member, and that all information in the report is true, correct, and complete. There is a late fee of $200 for each business day the report is late.

Anti-Money Laundering Programs

Federal law imposes significant anti-money laundering requirements on financial institutions, including NFA Members. NFA Compliance Rule 2-9(c) requires each Member registered as an FCM or IB to have an anti-money laundering program, and an interpretive notice to that rule explains the standards the program must meet.

Developing Policies, Procedures, and Internal Controls

Members must establish and implement policies, procedures, and internal controls reasonably designed to assure compliance with anti-money laundering provisions of the Bank Secrecy Act (BSA) and related regulations.

A firm's procedures must cover four key areas:

- identifying customers;
- detecting and reporting suspicious activity;
- hiring qualified staff; and
- recordkeeping.

Customer Identification Program

The anti-money laundering program must include procedures to obtain information about the customer and to verify its identity. Unlike NFA's "know your customer" requirements, these requirements apply to all customers, not just individuals.

A Member must obtain the following minimum information before it transacts business (e.g., introduces or opens an account or acts as counterparty) with a customer:

- for individuals, the customer's name, date of birth, and personal or business address;
- for customers that are not individuals, the customer's name, principal place of business, local office or other physical location;
- for U.S. persons, the customer's social security number or taxpayer identification number; and
- for non-U.S. persons, a U.S. taxpayer identification number, a passport number and the issuing country, an alien identification card number, or the number and issuing country for any other government-issued document that shows nationality or residence and contains a photograph or similar safeguard.

In addition to obtaining this minimum information, the Member must take steps to verify the customer's identity. You do not have to verify the customer's identity before transacting business with the customer but must do so within a reasonable time before or after the first business transaction. The procedures for verifying the customer's identity should:

- describe those situations where documents will be used to verify identity and list the documents that will be used (e.g., drivers license, passport, certified articles of incorporation, government-issued business license);
- explain when non-documentary methods will be used either instead of or in addition to looking at documents and describe those non-documentary methods (e.g., contacting the customer at the telephone number or address provided by the customer, comparing the information provided by the customer with information from a consumer reporting agency, checking references with other financial institutions);
- include a mechanism for identifying customers that may be high money laundering or terrorist financing risks (such as customers from particular geographic locations);
- provide a means for notifying customers that the Member will ask them for information to verify identity; and
- describe what the Member will do if it cannot form a reasonable belief that it knows the customer's true identity.

If a Member cannot identify a customer that is not an individual using its normal procedures, the Member may need to obtain information about the individual with authority or control over the account. Your firm's customer identification procedures should describe those situations where the firm will obtain this information.

Members are not required to determine whether a document used to verify identity is valid. If a document appears to be a forgery or there is other evidence of fraud, however, your firm must decide whether it has enough information to form a reasonable belief that it knows the customer's true identity. The same is true if the information provided by the customer is inconsistent (e.g., a home address in New York and a telephone number in California or a birth date that isn't consistent with the customer's apparent age).

A Member may rely on another U.S. financial institution to conduct the customer identification procedures. The law provides a safe harbor if the BSA requires the other financial institution to have an anti-money laundering program, that financial institution enters into a contract with the Member agreeing to annually certify that it has implemented an anti-money laundering program and will perform the required steps, and reliance is reasonable under the circumstances. Your firm's procedures must describe any circumstances where it will rely on another financial institution.

Although the safe harbor does not apply unless all of the above conditions are satisfied, firms may also choose to rely on U.S. financial institutions in other reasonable circumstances. Your firm should conduct a risk-based analysis before relying on those institutions.

Detecting and Reporting Suspicious Activity

A Member's anti-money laundering program must also include systems and procedures designed to detect and report suspicious activity, such as transactions that do not appear to have a business or other lawful purpose, that are unusual for the customer, or that cannot be reasonably explained. Your firm and appropriate personnel should know the nature of the customer's business and the customer's purpose in entering into the transactions. Your firm should also provide employees with examples of activities that raise red flags.

Each firm's program must require employees to promptly notify specified firm personnel of potentially suspicious activity. The appropriate supervisory personnel must then evaluate the activity and decide whether to report it to the firm's DSRO or the Financial Crimes Enforcement Network (FinCEN).

Hiring Qualified Staff

A Member's procedures should describe its policies for ensuring that employees in areas susceptible to money laundering or terrorist financing are properly qualified and trained. Your firm should perform background checks on key employees to screen those employees for criminal and disciplinary histories.

Recordkeeping

The procedures must also describe the firm's recordkeeping policies regarding information and documents obtained during the identification process. Members must keep records of all identifying information obtained from customers, including a copy or detailed description of each document viewed and a description and the results of each non-documentary method used. Your firm must keep records of the information obtained from customers for five years after the account is closed and of the information used to verify identify for five years after those records are made.

Other Requirements

Compliance Officer

Each Member registered as an FCM must designate a qualified individual or individuals to monitor the firm's day-to-day compliance with its anti-money laundering program. For example, a firm with a full-time compliance officer could designate that compliance officer. The designated individual may not be involved in any functional areas where money laundering or terrorist financing could occur and must ultimately report to senior management. This individual does not, however, have to be a principal of the firm or an Associate Member of NFA.

Employee Training Program

Members must provide ongoing training to employees who are involved in areas where money laundering or terrorist financing could occur. These employees should receive annual or more frequent training on their firm's policies and procedures, federal laws, and NFA requirements. Your firm should maintain records to show it has met this training requirement.

Independent Audit Function

A Member's anti-money laundering program must be audited at least annually. The audit may be conducted by internal audit staff or other internal employees if the employees conducting the audit do not have other anti-money laundering responsibilities, are not involved in areas where money laundering or terrorist financing could occur, and are independent of staff with these responsibilities or involved in these areas (e.g., the internal audit staff may not report to a compliance officer responsible for monitoring the firm's day-to-day compliance with the program). In the alternative, the Member may hire an independent outside party with experience in this type of auditing.

The audit staff or outside auditor should document the audit and report the results of the audit to the firm's senior management or to an internal audit committee or department. If the audit reveals any deficiencies, the audit staff, outside auditor, senior management, or internal committee or department should follow up to ensure that the firm has addressed and corrected those deficiencies.

Bulk Assignment or Liquidation

Under NFA Compliance Rule 2-40, a Forex Dealer Member that executes a bulk assignment or liquidation of customer positions or a bulk transfer of customer accounts must follow certain procedures to ensure that its customers and NFA have sufficient information and notice of the assignment, liquidation, or transfer. These procedures are described in the Interpretive Notice entitled "Procedures for the Bulk Assignment or Liquidation of Forex Positions; Cessation of Customer Business." The following discussion summarizes these procedures, but is not a substitute for reading the Interpretive Notice.

Bulk Assignments and Transfers

Assignor's Obligations

A Forex Dealer Member must exercise due diligence in selecting an assignee. In particular, the firm must:

1. check the assignee's status to ensure that it is an authorized counterparty under Section 2(c)(2)(B)(i)(II) of the Act, and
2. conduct a reasonable investigation to determine that the assignee intends and is financially able to honor its commitments to the firm's customers as a result of the assignment or transfer.

Your firm may not assign open positions to an entity that is not an authorized counterparty. Other reasons for rejecting a proposed assignee are that the proposed assignee will not cooperate with your investigation, you cannot obtain adequate and reliable information, or you have any other reason to question the assignee's motives or financial standing.

Forex Dealer members must also obtain each customer's written consent or provide customer with a notice of the assignment or transfer. The notice must give the reason for the assignment or transfer (e.g., the firm is going out of business). The notice must also (at a minimum):

3. inform customers that they are not required to accept the proposed assignment or transfer but can direct the Forex Dealer Member to instead liquidate their positions;
4. include the name and contact information of an individual at your firm to contact with questions or to liquidate positions;
5. provide the name and contact information for the assignee firm, as well as the name of an individual at that firm; and

6. instruct customers that their failure to respond to the notice by a specified date, not less than seven days from the date of the notice, will result in a default action (generally either assignment to the assignee or, if assignment is not permitted under the customer agreement, liquidation of the open positions and return of the remaining funds).

The notice must also include any other material information. For example, if customer positions are being assigned to a firm that is not an NFA Member, the notice must include the disclosure language prescribed in the Interpretive Notice.

A Forex Dealer Member should notify NFA's Compliance Department of the proposed assignment or transfer as early as possible. Your firm must send NFA a copy of the customer notice before sending it to customers.

Assignee's Obligations

If a Forex Dealer Member obtains customer positions or credit balances as assignee, it may not accept orders initiating new positions until it has obtained information from the customer and provided the disclosures required under NFA Compliance Rule 2-36 (discussed above). If the assignor is also a Forex Dealer Member, however, your firm may obtain the necessary customer information from the assignor and, instead of providing the required disclosures, may obtain clear and reliable written evidence that the assignor previously provided them.

Bulk Liquidations

Prior to any bulk liquidation of customer positions the Forex Dealer Member must notify NFA and either obtain the express written consent of its customers or provide them with prior notice. The customer notice must be provided to NFA before it is sent to the customers and must, at a minimum:

1. provide the reason for the liquidation.
2. inform the customer that as of a particular date (not less than seven day after the date of the notice) the Forex Dealer Member will liquidate all open positions and close the customer's account; and
3. include the name and contact information of an individual at the Forex Dealer Member to contact with questions regarding the liquidation.

These requirements are only applicable for bulk liquidations and not when a customer's position is being liquidated due to a lack of margin funds.

Records

Depending upon the circumstances, Forex Dealer Members must provide NFA with, among other things, a list of the accounts affected by the bulk assignment, transfer, or liquidation and the value of each as of the date NFA receives notice of the assignment, transfer, or liquidation; a representative copy of the customer agreements governing the affected accounts; and a subsequent list of the value of each affected account as of the date of the assignment, transfer, or liquidation.

Ceasing Business

In order to permit NFA to oversee an orderly winding down, a Forex Dealer Member must notify NFA seven days before it ceases its forex business.

General Requirements

All NFA Members must comply with the federal privacy laws and NFA's business continuity and disaster recovery requirements.

Privacy Rules

The CFTC's regulations restrict a Member's right to disclose nonpublic, personally identifiable financial information about customers and other consumers. These restrictions only apply to information about individuals who obtain financial products or services from the Member primarily for personal, family, or household purposes.

Members must have policies and procedures that describe their administrative, technical, and physical safeguards for protecting customer records and information. The procedures should also address the Member's policies for disclosing nonpublic, personally identifiable financial information and for notifying customers of those policies.

A Member must provide a customer with a privacy notice when the customer first establishes a relationship with the Member and annually after that. Your firm must also notify other consumers of its privacy policies before disclosing nonpublic personal information about those consumers.

Every Member must provide a privacy notice that identifies the categories of nonpublic personal information the Member collects and describes the Member's policies and procedures for protecting that information.

If your firm does not disclose nonpublic personal information to nonaffiliated third parties, or does so in very limited circumstances, the only additional information it must include in the privacy notice is a statement that it shares nonpublic personal information with third parties as permitted by law. CFTC Regulations describe the limited circumstances where Members may disclose the information without having to provide a more detailed privacy notice (e.g., when necessary to process a transaction or provide a service to the customer or with the customer's specific consent).

If your firm discloses nonpublic personal information to nonaffiliated third parties for other reasons, the notice must inform the customer that the firm discloses or reserves the right to disclose nonpublic personal information to nonaffiliated third parties and that the customer has the right to opt out of that disclosure. The notice must identify the categories of nonpublic personal information that your firm discloses and the categories of affiliates and nonaffiliates that your firm will disclose the information to. The notice must inform the customer that it may opt out of the disclosure and must provide a reasonable means for the customer to exercise its opt out right.

Members must provide amended privacy and opt out notices before disclosing information to unaffiliated third parties if either the information or the third party does not fall within a previously identified category.

All privacy and opt out notices should be in writing. Members may deliver these notices electronically if the customer agrees.

Business Continuity and Disaster Recovery Plan

Each Member must establish and maintain a written business continuity and disaster recovery plan. The plan must be reasonably designed to enable the Member to continue operating, to reestablish operations, or to transfer its business with minimal disruption.

Your firm's business continuity plan should address the following areas:

- establishing back-up facilities, systems, and personnel in locations that are geographically separated from the firm's primary facilities, systems, and personnel;
- backing up or copying essential documents and storing the information off-site;
- considering the impact of third-party business interruptions and identifying ways to minimize that impact; and
- developing a communication plan to contact essential parties such as employees, customers, counterparties, vendors, and disaster recovery specialists.

Each Member must update its plan when necessary and must periodically review the plan and keep a record of the review. Your firm should distribute and explain the plan to key employees, communicate the essential parts of the plan to all employees, and maintain copies of the plan at one or more off-site locations that are readily accessible to key employees.

Finally, each Member must provide NFA with the name and contact information for an individual who is authorized to make key decisions and will be the firm's primary contact if there is an emergency. If your firm has more than one principal or is registered as an FCM, it must provide this same information for a second individual authorized to make key decisions in an emergency.

BYLAWS

Bylaw 306. Forex Dealer Members.

[Adopted effective June 28, 2002. Effective dates of amendments: December 1, 2003; June 13, 2005; and February 13, 2007.]

(a) Except as provided in section (b), Members of NFA are Forex Dealer Members if they are the counterparty or offer to be the counterparty to forex transactions (as defined in Bylaw 1507(b)).

(b) The following Members are not Forex Dealer Members:

(i) Entities described in subsection (I) and subsections (IV) through (VI) of Section 2(c)(2)(B)(ii) of the Act;

(ii) Entities described in subsection (II) of Section 2(c)(2)(B)(ii) of the Act that are members of another futures association registered under Section 17 of the Act or of a national securities association registered under Section 15A(b) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934; and

(iii) Entities described in subsection (III) of Section 2(c)(2)(B)(ii) of the Act based on their affiliation with an entity described in subsection (II) of Section 2(c)(2)(B)(ii) of the Act that is a member of another futures association registered under Section 17 of the Act or of a national securities association registered under Section 15A(b) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934.

Bylaw 1301. Schedule of Dues and Assessments.

[Effective dates of amendments: January 10, 1983; July 27, 1983; November 29, 1983; February 27, 1984; April 1, 1984; June 4, 1985; January 28, 1986; July 1, 1988; May 22, 1989; July 1, 1989; January 1, 1990; July 1, 1991; July 1, 1993; January 1, 1994; July 1, 1994; January 1, 1995; January 1, 1998; July 1, 1999; July 1, 2001; October 15, 2001; January 1, 2002; April 1, 2002; July 1, 2002; September 9, 2002; January 1, 2003; September 15, 2003; December 1, 2003; July 1, 2004; January 1, 2005; April 30, 2006; December 4, 2006; October 1, 2007; January 1, 2008; and September 11, 2009.]

Subject to the provisions of Article XII, dues and assessments of Members shall be as follows:

(e) Forex Dealer Members.

(i) Each Forex Dealer Member shall pay to NFA annual dues in the amount provided under section (b)(ii) of this bylaw plus a surcharge of $44,375 if its gross annual revenue from the activities described in Bylaw 306(a) is $500,000 or less, a surcharge of $69,375 if its gross annual revenue from those activities is more than $500,000 but not more than $2,000,000, a surcharge of $94,375 if its gross annual revenue from those activities is more than $2,000,000 but not more than $5,000,000, and a surcharge of $119,375 if its gross annual revenue from those activities is more than $5,000,000; provided, however, that a Forex Dealer Member for which NFA does not serve as the DSRO, as defined in NFA Financial Requirements Section 1, shall pay only a surcharge of $12,000 if the Forex Dealer Member's DSRO, or the entity to which the DSRO has delegated such responsibilities, agrees in writing to examine the Forex Dealer Member's forex activities to ensure compliance with all applicable NFA requirements as part of the annual examination of the Forex Dealer Member. These dues replace the dues that would otherwise be payable based on the Forex Dealer Member's registration category.

(ii) Each Forex Dealer Member that is subject to discipline for the activities of solicitors and account managers shall pay a separate annual fee as follows payable on the firm's annual renewal date — for 1 to 4 solicitors and account managers, the fee is $5,000; for 5 to 19 solicitors and account managers the fee is $10,000; for 20 to 99 solicitors and account managers the fee is $25,000; and for 100 or more solicitors and account managers the fee is $50,000. In determining whether this fee applies, a Forex Dealer Member must calculate the highest number of solicitors and account managers it was responsible for at any one point of time during the year. This number does not include solicitors and account managers that are Members of NFA, meet the criteria in Bylaw 306(b), or would be exempt from Commission registration if they were acting in the same capacity in connection with exchange-traded futures contracts.

(iii) Each Forex Dealer Member shall pay an assessment of .0001% on the notional value of each initiating (non-rollover) forex transaction (as forex is defined in Bylaw 1507(b)). For transactions with a notional value less than $10,000, the Forex Dealer Member may aggregate separate transactions and pay $.01 on each multiple of $10,000.

Subject to the two-thirds majority voting requirements contained in Article XI, Section 1, the Board may in its discretion waive or establish lower annual dues for particular Members.

Bylaw 1507. Definitions.

[Effective dates of amendments: February 1, 1988; January 1, 1990; and February 13, 2007.]

Except as provided in this Bylaw, the terms used in these Bylaws shall have the same meaning as in the Articles.

(a) The term "futures" as used in these Bylaws shall include:

(1) option contracts granted by a person that has registered with the Commission under Section 4c(d) of the Act as a grantor of such option contracts or has notified the Commission under the Commission's rules that it is qualified to grant such option contracts;

(2) foreign futures and foreign options transactions made or to be made on or subject to the rules of a foreign board of trade for or on behalf of foreign futures and foreign options customers as those terms are defined in the Commission's rules;

(3) leverage transactions as that term is defined in the Commission's rules; and

(4) security futures products, as that term is defined in Section 1a(32) of the Act.

(b) The term "forex" means:

(1) foreign currency futures and options and any other agreement, contract, or transaction in foreign currency that is offered or entered into on a leveraged or margined basis, or financed by the offeror, the counterparty, or a person acting in concert with the offeror or counterparty on a similar basis;

(2) offered to or entered into with persons that are not eligible contract participants as defined in Section 1a(12) of the Act; and

(3) not executed on or subject to the rules of a contract market, a derivatives transaction execution facility, a national securities exchange registered pursuant to Section 6(a) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, or a foreign board of trade.

Provided, however, that the term does not include any security that is not a security futures product, any contract of sale that results in actual delivery within two days, or any contract of sale that creates an enforceable obligation to deliver between a seller and buyer that have the ability to deliver and accept delivery, respectively, in connection with their line of business, unless the transaction involves a futures contract or an option.

Such contracts are hereby declared to be proper subjects of NFA regulation and oversight (see Article XVIII, paragraph (k)).

COMPLIANCE RULES

Rule 2-36. Requirements for Forex Transactions.

[Adopted effective June 28, 2002. Effective dates of amendments: December 1, 2003; November 30, 2005; February 13, 2007; October 25, 2007; and April 1, 2009.]

(a) General Prohibition

No Forex Dealer Member shall engage in any forex transaction that is prohibited under the Commodity Exchange Act.

(b) Fraud and Related Matters

No Forex Dealer Member or Associate of a Forex Dealer Member engaging in any forex transaction shall:

- (1) Cheat, defraud or deceive, or attempt to cheat, defraud or deceive any other person;
- (2) Willfully make or cause to be made a false report, or willfully to enter or cause to be entered a false record in or in connection with any forex transaction;
- (3) Disseminate, or cause to be disseminated, false or misleading information, or a knowingly inaccurate report, that affects or tends to affect the price of any foreign currency;
- (4) Engage in manipulative acts or practices regarding the price of any foreign currency or a forex transaction;
- (5) Willfully submit materially false or misleading information to NFA or its agents with respect to forex transactions;
- (6) Embezzle, steal or purloin or knowingly convert any money, securities or other property received or accruing to any person in or in connection with a forex transaction.

(c) Just and Equitable Principles of Trade

Forex Dealer Members and their Associates shall observe high standards of commercial honor and just and equitable principles of trade in the conduct of their forex business.

(d) Doing Business with Non-Members

A Forex Dealer Member that is the counterparty, or offers to be the counterparty, to forex transactions for customers shall be subject to discipline for the activities of any person that solicits or introduces a customer to the Member or that manages such customer's accounts, unless such person is a Member or Associate of NFA, meets the criteria in Bylaw 306(b), or would be exempt from Commission registration if it were acting in the same capacity in connection with exchange-traded futures contracts.

(e) Supervision

Each Forex Dealer Member shall diligently supervise its employees and agents in the conduct of their forex activities for or on behalf of the Forex Dealer Member. Each Associate of a Forex Dealer Member who has supervisory duties shall diligently exercise such duties in the conduct of that Associate's forex activities for or on behalf of the Forex Dealer Member.

(f) Affiliates

Each Forex Dealer Member that has an affiliate that is authorized to engage in forex transactions solely by virtue of its affiliation with the Forex Dealer Member shall supervise its affiliate's forex activities for compliance with the same requirements that apply to the Forex Dealer Member, including section (a) of this rule. The Forex Dealer Member shall make the affiliate's books and records available to NFA staff upon request and shall be subject to discipline for acts and omissions of the affiliate that violate the standards imposed by NFA requirements.

(g) BASIC Disclosure

When a customer first opens an account and at least once a year thereafter, each Forex Dealer Member shall provide each customer with written information regarding NFA's Background Affiliation Status Information Center (BASIC), including the web site address.

(h) Filing Promotional Materials with NFA.

The Compliance Director may require any Forex Dealer Member for any specified period to file copies of all promotional material with NFA for its review and approval at least 10 days prior to its first use or such shorter period as NFA may allow. The Compliance Director may also require a Forex Dealer Member to file for review and approval copies of promotional material prepared or used by some or all of the non-Members it is responsible for under Section (d).

(i) Hypothetical Results

Any Member who uses promotional material that includes a measurement or description or makes any reference to hypothetical forex transaction performance results that could have been achieved had a particular trading system of the Member or Associate been employed in the past must comply with Compliance Rule 2-29(c) and the related Interpretive Notice as if the performance results were for transactions in on-exchange futures contracts.

(j) Scope

This rule governs forex transactions as defined in Bylaw 1507(b).

(k) Definition of Customer

For purposes of this rule, the term "customer" means a counterparty that is not an eligible contract participant as defined in Section 1a(12) of the Act.

Rule 2-39. Soliciting, Introducing, or Managing Forex Transactions or Accounts.

[Adopted effective September 15, 2005. Effective dates of amendments: February 13, 2007; June 5, 2007; September 21, 2007; October 25, 2007; and April 1, 2009.]

(a) Except for members who meet the criteria in Bylaw 306(b) and Associates acting on their behalf, Members and Associates who solicit customers, introduce customers to a counterparty, or manage accounts on behalf of customers in connection with forex transactions shall comply with Sections (a),(b),(c),(e),(h), and (i) of Compliance Rule 2-36.

(b) No Member except a Forex Dealer Member or a Member who meets the criteria in Bylaw 306(b) may accept forex orders or accounts or receive compensation-directly or indirectly-for forex transactions from any person unless that person is a Member or Associate of NFA, meets the criteria in NFA Bylaw 306(b), or would be exempt from Commission registration if it were acting in the same capacity in connection with exchange-traded futures products.

(c) For purposes of this rule, the term "customer" means a person that is not an eligible contract participant as defined in Section 1a(12) of the Act and includes persons who participate in pooled accounts.

Rule 2-40. Bulk Assignment or Liquidation of Forex Positions;
Cessation of Customer Business.

[Adopted effective February 16, 2007. Effective dates of amendments: June 5, 2007.]

(a) Bulk Assignment, Transfer, or Liquidation. A Forex Dealer Member may not enter into a bulk assignment, transfer, or liquidation of forex positions or accounts unless the assignment, liquidation, or transfer complies with procedures established by NFA.

(b) Obligation of Assignees. If forex positions or accounts are assigned or transferred to a Forex Dealer Member, the Member may not accept orders initiating new positions until it has either:

(1) obtained personal and financial information from the customer and provided the disclosures required under Compliance Rule 2-36; or

(2) if the assignor was a Forex Dealer Member, obtained the necessary personal and financial information pertaining to the customer from the assignor and obtained reliable written evidence (which may include electronic records) that the assignor provided the required disclosures.

(c) Ceasing Business. A Forex Dealer Member must notify NFA by e-mail or facsimile seven calendar days prior to ceasing its forex business.

(d) Definitions. For purposes of this rule, the term "forex" has the same meaning as in Bylaw 1507(b) and the term "customer" has the same meaning as in Compliance Rule 2-36(i).

Rule 2-41. Forex Pool Operators and Trading Advisors.
*[Adopted effective November 30, 2008. Effective date of amendments:
December 8, 2008.]*

(a) Pool Operators. Except for Members who meet the criteria in Bylaw 306(b) and Associates acting on their behalf, any Member or Associate operating or soliciting funds, securities, or property for a pooled investment vehicle that is not an eligible contract participant as defined in Section 1a(12) of the Act must comply with this section (a) if it enters into or intends to enter into any transaction described in NFA Bylaw 1507(b)(1) except as described in NFA Bylaw 1507(b)(3). For purposes of this section, a pooled investment vehicle may not claim to be an eligible contract participant by virtue of Section 1a(12)(A)(v)(II) or (III) of the Act.

(1) For each such pooled investment vehicle, the Member or Associate must prepare a Disclosure Document and must file it with NFA at least 21 days before soliciting the first potential pool participant that is not an eligible contract participant.

(2) The Member or Associate must deliver the Disclosure Document to a prospective pool participant who is not an eligible contract participant no later than the time it delivers the subscription agreement for the pool. Any information delivered before the Disclosure Document must be consistent with the information in the Disclosure Document.

(3) The Disclosure Document must comply with the requirements in CFTC Regulations 4.24, 4.25, and 4.26 as if operating a pool trading on-exchange futures contracts. The term "commodity interest" in those regulations should be read to include forex transactions, and the Risk Disclosure Statement required by CFTC Regulation 4.24(b)(1) must be replaced by the following if the pool does not trade on-exchange contracts and must be added as a separate statement if the pool trades both on-exchange contracts and forex.

RISK DISCLOSURE STATEMENT

YOU SHOULD CAREFULLY CONSIDER WHETHER YOUR FINANCIAL CONDITION PERMITS YOU TO PARTICIPATE IN A POOLED INVESTMENT VEHICLE. IN SO DOING, YOU SHOULD BE AWARE THAT THIS POOL ENTERS INTO TRANSACTIONS THAT ARE NOT TRADED ON AN EXCHANGE, AND THE FUNDS THE POOL INVESTS IN THOSE TRANSACTIONS MAY NOT RECEIVE THE SAME PROTECTIONS AS FUNDS USED TO MARGIN OR GUARANTEE EXCHANGE-TRADED FUTURES AND OPTIONS CONTRACTS. IF THE COUNTERPARTY BECOMES INSOLVENT AND THE POOL HAS A CLAIM FOR AMOUNTS

DEPOSITED OR PROFITS EARNED ON TRANSACTIONS WITH THE COUNTERPARTY, THE POOL'S CLAIM MAY NOT RECEIVE A PRIORITY. WITHOUT A PRIORITY, THE POOL IS A GENERAL CREDITOR AND ITS CLAIM WILL BE PAID, ALONG WITH THE CLAIMS OF OTHER GENERAL CREDITORS, FROM ANY MONIES STILL AVAILABLE AFTER PRIORITY CLAIMS ARE PAID. EVEN POOL FUNDS THAT THE COUNTERPARTY KEEPS SEPARATE FROM ITS OWN OPERATING FUNDS MAY NOT BE SAFE FROM THE CLAIMS OF OTHER GENERAL AND PRIORITY CREDITORS.

FOREX TRADING CAN QUICKLY LEAD TO LARGE LOSSES AS WELL AS GAINS. SUCH TRADING LOSSES CAN SHARPLY REDUCE THE NET ASSET VALUE OF THE POOL AND CONSEQUENTLY THE VALUE OF YOUR INTEREST IN THE POOL. IN ADDITION, RESTRICTIONS ON REDEMPTIONS MAY AFFECT YOUR ABILITY TO WITHDRAW YOUR PARTICIPATION IN THE POOL.

INVESTMENTS IN THE POOL MAY BE SUBJECT TO SUBSTANTIAL CHARGES FOR MANAGEMENT, ADVISORY, AND BROKERAGE FEES, AND THE POOL MAY NEED TO MAKE SUBSTANTIAL TRADING PROFITS TO AVOID DEPLETING OR EXHAUSTING ITS ASSETS. THIS DISCLOSURE DOCUMENT CONTAINS A COMPLETE DESCRIPTION OF EACH EXPENSE (SEE PAGE [insert page number]) AND A STATEMENT OF THE PERCENTAGE RETURN NECESSARY TO BREAK EVEN, THAT IS, TO RECOVER THE AMOUNT OF YOUR INITIAL INVESTMENT (SEE PAGE [insert page number]).

THIS BRIEF STATEMENT CANNOT DISCLOSE ALL THE RISKS AND OTHER FACTORS NECESSARY TO EVALUATE YOUR PARTICIPATION IN THIS POOL. THEREFORE, BEFORE YOU DECIDE TO PARTICIPATE YOU SHOULD CAREFULLY REVIEW THIS DISCLOSURE DOCUMENT, INCLUDING A DESCRIPTION OF THE PRINCIPAL RISK FACTORS OF THIS INVESTMENT (SEE PAGE [insert page number]).

NATIONAL FUTURES ASSOCIATION HAS NEITHER PASSED UPON THE MERITS OF PARTICIPATING IN THIS POOL NOR THE ADEQUACY OR ACCURACY OF THIS DISCLOSURE DOCUMENT.

(b) Trading Advisors. Except for Members who meet the criteria in Bylaw 306(b) and Associates acting on their behalf, any Member or Associate managing, directing or guiding, or soliciting to manage, direct, or guide, accounts or trading on behalf of a client that is not an eligible contract participant as defined in Section 1a(12) of the Act by means of a systematic program must comply with this section (b) if it intends to manage, direct, or guide the client's account or trade in transactions described in NFA Bylaw 1507(b).

(1) The Member or Associate must prepare a Disclosure Document and must file it with NFA at least 21 days before soliciting the first potential client that is not an eligible contract participant.

(2) The Member or Associate must deliver the Disclosure Document to a prospective client who is not an eligible contract participant no later than the time it delivers the agreement to manage, direct, or guide the client's account or trading. Any information delivered before the Disclosure Document must be consistent with the information in the Disclosure Document.

(3) The Disclosure Document must comply with the requirements in CFTC Regulations 4.34, 4.35, and 4.36 as if managing, directing, or guiding accounts or trading in on-exchange futures contracts. The term "commodity interest" in those regulations should be read to include forex transactions, and the Risk Disclosure Statement required by CFTC Regulation 4.34(b)(1) must be replaced by the following if the managed, directed, or guided account or trading will not include transactions in on-exchange contracts and must be added as a separate statement if it will include transactions in both on-exchange contracts and forex.

RISK DISCLOSURE STATEMENT

THE RISK OF LOSS IN FOREX TRADING CAN BE SUBSTANTIAL. YOU SHOULD THEREFORE CAREFULLY CONSIDER WHETHER SUCH TRADING IS SUITABLE FOR YOU IN LIGHT OF YOUR FINANCIAL CONDITION. IN CONSIDERING WHETHER TO TRADE OR TO AUTHORIZE SOMEONE ELSE TO TRADE FOR YOU, YOU SHOULD ALSO BE AWARE OF THE FOLLOWING:

FOREX TRANSACTIONS ARE NOT TRADED ON AN EXCHANGE, AND THOSE FUNDS DEPOSITED WITH THE COUNTERPARTY FOR FOREX TRANSACTIONS MAY NOT RECEIVE THE SAME PROTECTIONS AS FUNDS USED TO MARGIN OR GUARANTEE EXCHANGE-TRADED FUTURES AND OPTIONS CONTRACTS. IF THE COUNTERPARTY BECOMES INSOLVENT AND YOU HAVE A CLAIM FOR AMOUNTS DEPOSITED OR PROFITS EARNED ON TRANSACTIONS WITH THE COUNTERPARTY, YOUR CLAIM MAY NOT RECEIVE A PRIORITY. WITHOUT A PRIORITY, YOU ARE A GENERAL CREDITOR AND YOUR CLAIM WILL BE PAID, ALONG WITH THE CLAIMS OF OTHER GENERAL CREDITORS, FROM ANY MONIES STILL AVAILABLE AFTER PRIORITY

CLAIMS ARE PAID. EVEN CUSTOMER FUNDS THAT THE COUNTERPARTY KEEPS SEPARATE FROM ITS OWN OPERATING FUNDS MAY NOT BE SAFE FROM THE CLAIMS OF OTHER GENERAL AND PRIORITY CREDITORS.

THE HIGH DEGREE OF LEVERAGE THAT IS OFTEN OBTAINABLE IN FOREX TRADING CAN WORK AGAINST YOU AS WELL AS FOR YOU. THE USE OF LEVERAGE CAN LEAD TO LARGE LOSSES AS WELL AS GAINS.

MANAGED ACCOUNTS MAY BE SUBJECT TO SUBSTANTIAL CHARGES FOR MANAGEMENT AND ADVISORY FEES AND THE ACCOUNT MAY NEED TO MAKE SUBSTANTIAL TRADING PROFITS TO AVOID DEPLETING OR EXHAUSTING ITS ASSETS. THIS DISCLOSURE DOCUMENT CONTAINS A COMPLETE DESCRIPTION OF EACH FEE TO BE CHARGED TO YOUR ACCOUNT BY THE ACCOUNT MANAGER. (SEE PAGE [insert page number]).

THIS BRIEF STATEMENT CANNOT DISCLOSE ALL THE RISKS AND SIGNIFICANT ASPECTS OF THE FOREX MARKETS. THEREFORE, YOU SHOULD CAREFULLY REVIEW THIS DISCLOSURE DOCUMENT BEFORE YOU TRADE, INCLUDING THE DESCRIPTION OF THE PRINCIPAL RISK FACTORS OF THIS INVESTMENT (SEE PAGE [insert page number]).

NATIONAL FUTURES ASSOCIATION HAS NEITHER PASSED UPON THE MERITS OF PARTICIPATING IN THIS TRADING PROGRAM NOR THE ADEQUACY OR ACCURACY OF THIS DISCLOSURE DOCUMENT.

Rule 2-42. Forex Pool Reporting.

*[Adopted effective November 30, 2008. Effective date of amendments:
December 8, 2008.]*

(a) Except for Members who meet the criteria in Bylaw 306(b), any Member operating a pool that is not an eligible contract participant as defined in Section 1a(12) of the Act and that trades forex must comply with the requirements in CFTC Regulation 4.22 in the same manner as would be applicable to the operation of a pool trading on-exchange futures contracts. The term "commodity interest" in that regulation should be read to include forex transactions. For purposes of this section, a pool may not claim to be an eligible contract participant by virtue of Section 1a(12)(A)(v)(II) or (III) of the Act.

(b) A Member may file with NFA a request for an extension of time in which to file the annual report in the same form as provided for in CFTC Regulation 4.22(f).

Rule 2-43. Forex Orders

[Adopted effective May 15, 2009. Effective dates of amendments: June 12, 2009 and September 11, 2009.]

(a) Price Adjustments

(1) A Forex Dealer Member may not cancel an executed customer order or adjust a customer account in a manner that would have the direct or indirect effect of changing the price of an executed order except when:

(i) the cancellation or adjustment is favorable to the customer and is done as part of a settlement of a customer complaint, provided, however, that individual customer complaints are not required in order for a Forex Dealer Member to favorably adjust all customer orders that were adversely affected by technical problems with the trading platform or by similar factors beyond the customer's control and that are unrelated to market price movements (except that the Forex Dealer Member must adjust all customer orders adversely affected and may not, except as provided in section (a)(1)(ii), adjust any order that received a favorable price due to the problem); or

(ii) if a Forex Dealer Member exclusively uses straight-through processing such that the Forex Dealer Member automatically (without human intervention and without exception) enters into the identical but opposite transaction with another counterparty (creating an offsetting position in its own name) and that counterparty cancels or adjusts the price at which the position was executed.

(2) With regard to cancellations or adjustments made pursuant to section (a)(1)(ii), a Forex Dealer Member must:

(i) provide written notification to the customer within fifteen (15) minutes of the customer order having been executed that it is seeking to cancel the executed order or adjust the customer's account to reflect the adjusted price provided by the Forex Dealer Member's counterparty, as applicable, and the written notification must include documentation of the cancellation or adjustment from the Forex Dealer Member's counterparty; and

(ii) either cancel or adjust all executed customer orders executed during the same time period and in the same currency pair or option regardless of whether they were buy or sell orders.

(3) Notwithstanding section (a)(2)(ii), a Forex Dealer Member may choose to honor transactions in which customer orders resulted in profits for the customers but must do so with regard to all similarly situated customers.

(4) Cancellations and adjustments to executed customer orders must be reviewed and approved by a listed principal that is also an NFA Associate. Such review and approval must be documented by a written record, must include any supporting documentation, and must be provided to NFA in the manner requested by NFA.

(5) A customer order is considered executed upon the earlier of the customer receiving notification of the execution price from the Forex Dealer Member or when the position established by such order is identified in the customer's account, whether electronically or otherwise.

(6) If a Forex Dealer Member may cancel or adjust an executed order under the circumstances provided for in section (a)(1)(ii), the FDM must provide customers with written notice that the Forex Dealer Member may cancel or adjust executed customer orders based upon liquidity provider price changes prior to the time they first engage in forex transactions with the Forex Dealer Member. The notice may be included in a customer agreement.

(7) Any provision in a customer agreement or any contract between a Forex Dealer Member and a customer that reserves to the Forex Dealer Member the right to make price or equity adjustments to a customer account except as allowed by this Rule is prohibited.

(b) Offsetting Transactions

Forex Dealer Members may not carry offsetting positions in a customer account but must offset them on a first-in, first-out basis. At the customer's request, an FDM may offset same-size transactions even if there are older transactions of a different size but must offset the transaction against the oldest transaction of that size.

Rule 2-44. Forex Customer Statements.

[Adopted effective June 1, 2009.]

Forex Dealer Members must provide customers with confirmations, daily statements, and monthly statements as provided in this rule.

(a) Confirmations

Written confirmations must be provided to customers within one business day after any activity in the customer's account, including offsetting transactions, rollovers, deliveries, option exercises, option expirations, trades that have been reversed or adjusted, and monetary adjustments. The confirmations must contain the following information regarding the transaction and the funds in the account:

- (1) Transaction date;
- (2) Transaction type (e.g., new position, offsetting position, rollover, adjustment);
- (3) Currency pair
- (4) Buy or sell (if a new or offsetting position);
- (5) Size
- (6) Price or premium (for new or offsetting positions or price adjustments);
- (7) Price or premium change (for price adjustments);
- (8) Monetary adjustments (debit or credit);
- (9) Net profit or loss for offsetting positions; and
- (10) Charges for each transaction (e.g., rollover interest and/or fees).

(b) Daily Statements

Daily statements must show the account equity as of the end of the previous day. The daily statements may be provided electronically as long as they are readily accessible to customers. The daily statements may be combined with the confirmations but, in that event, they may not be provided electronically without the customer's consent.

(c) Monthly or Quarterly Statements

Monthly statements are required for all accounts that have open positions at the end of the month or changes in the account balance or equity since the prior statement. Quarterly statements are required for all other open accounts. The monthly or quarterly statements must contain the following information regarding the transactions during the reporting period and the funds in the account:

- (1) The account equity at the beginning of the reporting period;
- (2) All initiating or offsetting transactions, deliveries, option exercises, or option expirations that occurred during the reporting period, with the following information for each: date, currency pair, buy or sell, size, and price or premium (with any price or premium adjustment noted);

(3) All open positions in the account, with the following information for each position: date initiated, currency pair, long or short, size, price or premium at which it was initiated (with any price or premium adjustment noted), and the unrealized profit or loss;

(4) All deposits and withdrawals during the reporting period;

(5) All other monetary adjustments (debits and credits) to the account;

(6) The amount of cash in the account (excluding non-cash collateral and unrealized profits and losses);

(7) A breakdown by type of all fees and charges during the period, including commissions and interest expense or rollover fees; and

(8) The account equity at the end of the reporting period.

(d) Options

For options transactions, Forex Dealer Members must provide the following additional information:

(1) On confirmations and monthly or quarterly statements, strike price and expiration date; and

(2) For open positions on monthly or quarterly statements, the value of the option marked to the market.

(e) Account Equity

Each daily, monthly, or quarterly statement must prominently display the account equity. The account equity is the sum of all realized profits and losses, all unrealized profits and losses, and any other cash and collateral in the account.

(f) Electronic Delivery

Daily statements may be provided on-line or by other electronic means as long as they are readily accessible to customers. Confirmations and monthly/quarterly statements may be provided on-line or transmitted by other electronic means if the customer consents to the specific method used.

(g) Adjustments

For purposes of this Rule, the term "adjustment" means any change to the price or premium of an initiating or offsetting transaction and any debit or credit to the account that has the same effect (monetary adjustment).

FINANCIAL REQUIREMENTS

Section 11. Forex Dealer Member Financial Requirements.

[Adopted Effective December 1, 2003. Effective dates of amendments: November 30, 2005; July 31, 2006; August 9, 2006; February 13, 2007; March 31, 2007; May 7, 2007; December 17, 2007; December 21, 2007; October 31, 2008; and November 30, 2009.]

(a) Each Forex Dealer Member must maintain "Adjusted Net Capital" (as defined in CFTC Regulation 1.17) equal to or in excess of the greatest of:

(i) $10,000,000 through January 16, 2009, $15,000,000 from January 17, 2009 through May 15, 2009, and $20,000,000 from May 16, 2009 forward;

(ii) the amount required by subsection (a)(i) above plus 5% of all liabilities owed to customers (as customer is defined in Compliance Rule 2-36(i)) exceeding $10,000,000, except that any Forex Dealer Member that uses straight-through-processing for all customer transactions is not subject to this requirement; or

(iii) For FCMs, any other amount required by Section 1 of these Financial Requirements.

(b) A Forex Dealer Member may not include assets held by an affiliate (unless approved by NFA) or an unregulated person in its current assets for purposes of determining its adjusted net capital under CFTC Rule 1.17. An affiliate is any person that controls, is controlled by, or is under common control with the Forex Dealer Member.

For purposes of this section and section (c), a person is unregulated unless it is:

(i) a financial institution regulated by a U.S. banking regulator;

(ii) a broker-dealer registered with the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission and a member of the Financial Industry Regulatory Authority;

(iii) a futures commission merchant registered with the U.S. Commodity Futures Trading Commission and a Member of NFA;

(iv) a retail foreign exchange dealer registered with the U.S. Commodity Futures Trading Commission and a Member of NFA;

(v) an insurance company regulated by any U.S. state;

(vi) an entity regulated as a foreign equivalent of any of the above if regulated in a money center country as defined in CFTC Regulation 1.49; or

(vii) any other entity approved by NFA.

(c) A Forex Dealer Member may not use an affiliate (unless approved by NFA) or an unregulated person, as defined in section (b), to cover its currency positions for purposes of CFTC Rule 1.17(c)(5).

(d) Each RFED must file financial reports with NFA for each month-end, including its fiscal year-end, within 17 business days of the date for which the report is prepared. All financial reports must be filed on the forms required by CFTC regulations, and all financial reports except those required to be certified by a Certified Public Accountant must be filed electronically using an electronic media approved by NFA.

(e) For purposes of this rule:

(1) "Forex" has the same meaning as in Bylaw 1507(b);

(2) "Forex Dealer Member" has the same meaning as in Bylaw 306; and

(3) As used in section (c), "currency" refers to open foreign currency positions with counterparties regardless of whether those counterparties are eligible contract participants as defined in Section 1a(12) of the Act.

Section 12. Security Deposits for Forex Transactions with Forex Dealer Members.

[Adopted Effective December 1, 2003. Effective dates of amendments: June 6, 2004; September 15, 2005; February 13, 2007; May 14, 2008; October 31, 2008 and November 30, 2009.]

(a) Each Forex Dealer Member shall collect and maintain the following minimum security deposit for each forex transaction between the Forex Dealer Member and a person that is not an eligible contract participant as defined in Section 1a(12) of the Act:

(i) 1% of the notional value of transactions in the British pound, the Swiss franc, the Canadian dollar, the Japanese yen, the Euro, the Australian dollar, the New Zealand dollar, the Swedish krona, the Norwegian krone, and the Danish krone;

(ii) 4% of the notional value of other transactions;

(iii) for short options, the above amount plus the premium received;
and

(iv) for long options, the entire premium.

(b) The Executive Committee may temporarily increase these requirements under extraordinary market conditions.

(c) For purposes of this rule:

(1) "Forex" has the same meaning as in Bylaw 1507(b); and

(2) "Forex Dealer Member" has the same meaning as in Bylaw 306.

(d) In addition to cash, a Forex Dealer Member may accept those instruments described in CFTC Rule 1.25 as collateral for customers' security deposit obligations. The collateral must be in the FDM's possession and control and is subject to the haircuts in CFTC Rule 1.17.

Section 13. Forex Dealer Member Weekly Reports.

[Adopted Effective July 25, 2006. Effective dates of amendments: April 1, 2009]

(a) Each Forex Dealer Member must file weekly electronic reports showing liabilities to customers and other financial information required by NFA. The report must be prepared as of the last business day of the week and must be filed by noon on the following business day in the format and using the electronic filing method provided by NFA.

(1) No Forex Dealer Member may access NFA's electronic financial reports database until NFA has assigned it a unique identifying code and password. Each Forex Dealer Member is responsible for maintaining the security and confidentiality of its identifying code and password and that of each person it authorizes to file weekly electronic reports on its behalf.

(2) Submitting the report certifies that the person filing it is a supervisory employee that is, or is under the ultimate supervision of, a listed principal who is also an NFA Associate; that the person filing it is duly authorized to bind the Forex Dealer Member; and that, to the best of that person's knowledge, all information in the report is true, correct, and complete.

(b) Each weekly report that is filed after it is due shall be accompanied by a fee of $200 for each business day it is late. Payment and acceptance of the fee does not preclude NFA from filing a disciplinary action for failure to comply with the deadlines imposed by this rule.

Section 14. Assets Covering Liabilities to Retail Forex Customers.

[Adopted Effective July 1, 2007. Effective dates of amendments: December 17, 2007.]

(a) Each Forex Dealer Member shall calculate the amount owed to U.S. customers for forex transactions and shall hold assets equal to or in excess of that amount at one or more qualifying institutions in the United States or money center countries (as defined in CFTC Regulation 1.49).

(b) The amount owed to U.S. customers shall be calculated by adding up the net liquidating values of each forex account that liquidates to a positive number, using the fair market value for each asset other than open positions and the current market value for open positions.

(c) For assets held in the United States, a qualifying institution is:

(i) a bank or trust company regulated by a U.S. banking regulator;

(ii) a broker-dealer registered with the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission and a member of the Financial Industry Regulatory Authority; or

(iii) a futures commission merchant registered with the U.S. Commodity Futures Trading Commission and a Member of NFA.

(d) For assets held in a money center country as defined in CFTC Regulation 1.49, a qualifying institution is:

(i) a bank or trust company regulated in the money center country 1) which has in excess of $1 billion in regulatory capital or 2) whose commercial paper or long-term debt instrument or, if part of a holding company system, its holding company's commercial paper or long-term debt instrument, is rated in one of the two highest rating categories by at least one nationally recognized statistical rating organization;

(ii) an entity regulated in the money center country as an equivalent of a broker-dealer or futures commission merchant 1) which has in excess of $100 million in regulatory capital or 2) whose commercial paper or long-term debt instrument or, if part of a holding company system, its holding company's commercial paper or long-term debt instrument, is rated in one of the two highest rating categories by at least one nationally recognized statistical rating organization; or

(iii) a futures commission merchant registered with the U.S. Commodity Futures Trading Commission and a Member of NFA.

(e) Assets held in a money center country are not eligible to meet the requirements of this rule unless the Forex Dealer Member and the qualifying institution have entered into an agreement, acceptable to NFA, authorizing the institution to provide NFA and the CFTC with information regarding the Forex Dealer Member's accounts and to provide that information directly to NFA or the CFTC upon their request. The Forex Dealer Member must file the signed agreement with NFA.

(f) For purposes of this rule, a U.S. customer is a retail customer that is:

(i) a natural person who is a resident of the United States;

(ii) a partnership, corporation, or other entity (including a collective investment vehicle) organized under the laws of the United States or which has its principal place of business in the United States;

(iii) an estate or trust, the income of which is subject to United States income tax regardless of source; or

(iv) an entity organized principally for passive investment (e.g., a commodity pool or investment company) in which U.S. persons beneficially own, in the aggregate, a 10% or greater interest.

Section 15. Forex Dealer Member Internal Financial Controls.
*[Adopted Effective September 21, 2007. Effective dates of amendments:
December 17, 2009.]*

(a) No Member may act as a Forex Dealer Member (as defined in Bylaw 306) unless it has demonstrated to NFA that the Member has adequate internal financial controls. The Forex Dealer Member must demonstrate that its system of internal controls provides reasonable assurance regarding the reliability of financial reporting and the preparation of financial statements for external purposes in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles. The Forex Dealer Member must demonstrate that its system of internal financial controls has no material weaknesses and that it is adequate for establishing and maintaining internal controls over financial reporting by the Member. A Forex Dealer Member may satisfy this obligation by obtaining an internal control report that is prepared and certified by an independent public accountant who is registered under Section 102 of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act. The internal control report shall contain, at a minimum, a detailed explanation of the examination performed by the accountant and a representation by the accountant that it has examined and tested the Forex Dealer Member's system of internal controls and that the controls comply with the above standards.

If NFA believes that a Member's internal controls are inadequate at any time, NFA's Compliance Director may require it to provide to NFA an internal control report that is prepared and certified by an independent public accountant who is registered under Section 102 of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act. The internal control report shall meet the above standards.

(b) Provided NFA's Compliance Director believes that a Forex Dealer Member's financial records are inadequate, the Compliance Director may require a Forex Dealer Member's annual certified financial statements to be prepared by an independent public accountant who is registered under Section 102 of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act.

(c) The individuals who prepare the Forex Dealer Member's financial books and records must be under the ultimate supervision of a listed principal and registered associated person of the Member. This principal must also be responsible for researching and selecting the independent public accountant that certifies the firm's annual financial statements.

INTERPRETIVE NOTICE

The Commodity Exchange Act (CEA or Act) gives the Commodity Futures Trading Commission (CFTC or Commission) limited jurisdiction over off-exchange foreign currency transactions offered to or entered into with retail customers. As a result of those provisions, certain firms primarily engaged in the retail forex business have registered with the CFTC and become Members of NFA. NFA has adopted several requirements to govern the conduct of these firms and their associated persons.

As described below, NFA Bylaw 306 creates a Forex Dealer Member category for certain NFA Members who act as counterparties to forex transactions with retail customers. This category allows NFA to exercise appropriate regulatory jurisdiction over the retail forex activities of these Members without imposing unnecessary, and potentially duplicative, regulatory burdens on Members that are otherwise subject to regulatory oversight for their activities.

NFA Bylaw 1507(b) defines forex as foreign currency futures and options and any other agreement, contract, or transaction in foreign currency that is offered or entered into on a leveraged or margined basis, or financed by the offeror, the counterparty, or a person acting in concert with the offeror or counterparty on a similar basis that are:

- offered to or entered into with persons that are not eligible contract participants as defined in Section 1a(12) of the Act (retail customers); and
- not executed on or subject to the rules of a contract market, a derivatives transaction execution facility, a national securities exchange registered pursuant to Section 6(a) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, or a foreign board of trade.¹

Bylaw 1507(b) also excludes the following from the forex definition if the transaction is not a futures or options contract:

- securities (other than security futures products);
- any contract of sale that results in actual delivery within two days; and
- any contract of sale that creates an enforceable obligation to deliver between a seller and buyer that have the ability to deliver and accept delivery, respectively, in connection with their line of business.

Given the differences between off-exchange transactions and traditional exchange-traded futures and options, the Board of Directors does not believe that it is appropriate to apply the full array of NFA's futures rules to forex transactions. Therefore, rather than simply incorporating forex transactions into the definition of "futures," NFA adopted NFA Compliance Rule 2-36 to govern these transactions.

In developing its forex requirements, NFA's primary concern was to ensure that they provide adequate protection for retail customers without imposing undue burdens on NFA Members. NFA also believes that its requirements should, where consistent with customer protection, promote innovation and competition. In order to provide Members with as much flexibility as possible, NFA has chosen to deal with a number of issues by providing guidance under NFA Compliance Rule 2-36 instead of by adopting additional rules.

NFA Compliance Rule 2-36 sets out the general standards that apply to Forex Dealer Members and their Associates in connection with forex transactions. Subsection (b) prohibits Forex Dealer Members and their Associates from engaging in fraudulent activities, subsection (c) requires Forex Dealer Members and their Associates to observe high standards of commercial honor and just and equitable principles of trade in connection with their forex business, and subsection (e) requires Forex Dealer Members and their Associates with supervisory duties to supervise their employees and agents. Other subsections address a Forex Dealer Member's responsibility for its unregulated affiliates and third-party solicitors and make Forex Dealer Members subject to discipline for the conduct of certain non-Members with which they do business.

This notice has three sections. The first section explains who qualifies as a Forex Dealer Member under NFA Bylaw 306, the second section provides additional guidance about the requirements in Compliance Rule 2-36, and the third section covers other miscellaneous requirements.

A. BYLAW 306

In general, Forex Dealer Members are NFA Members who act as counterparties to forex transactions. This is a self-executing requirement, which means that any Member who qualifies is automatically a Forex Dealer Member. There is no application form and no approval requirement.

Members who do not act as counterparties are not Forex Dealer Members, even if they introduce or manage forex accounts. Under NFA Compliance Rule 2-39, however, most Members who introduce or manage forex accounts are required to comply with subsections (a), (b), (c), and (e) of NFA Compliance Rule 2-36.

Bylaw 306(b) excludes Members that are otherwise subject to regulatory oversight for their forex activities, which means that these Members are not Forex Dealer Members and do not have to comply with Compliance Rule 2-36.² The exclusions mostly follow Section 2(c)(2)(B)(ii) of the CEA, although the exclusions for broker-dealers and their affiliates are conditioned on the Financial Industry Regulatory Authority ("FINRA") membership. In particular, the following entities are not Forex Dealer Members:

- financial institutions (e.g., banks and savings associations);
- certain insurance companies and their regulated subsidiaries or affiliates;
- financial holding companies;
- investment bank holding companies;
- registered broker-dealers that are members of FINRA;³ and
- Material Associated Persons of registered broker-dealers that are members of FINRA.⁴

B. COMPLIANCE RULE 2-36

As noted above, this section provides additional guidance on what Compliance Rule 2-36 requires. Certain sections specifically refer to Forex Dealer Members. Except for Members that meet the criteria in Bylaw 306(b), all other provisions of this notice also apply to Members and their Associates who solicit, introduce or manage forex accounts.

1. Disclosure - Members must provide forex customers with understandable and timely disclosure on essential features of forex trading.

At or before the time a customer first engages in a forex transaction, a Forex Dealer Member and its Associates should provide the customer sufficient information concerning the characteristics and particular risks of entering into forex transactions. Members and Associates introducing or managing accounts should know what information has been provided and should supplement it when necessary.

This information must include the following statement prominently displayed:

The transactions you are entering into with [Member] are not traded on an exchange. Therefore, under the U.S. Bankruptcy Code, your funds may not receive the same protections as funds used to margin or guarantee exchange-traded futures and options contracts, which receive a priority in bankruptcy. Since that same priority has not been given to funds used for off-exchange forex trading, if [Member] becomes insolvent and you have a claim for amounts deposited or profits earned on transactions with [Member], your claim may not receive a priority. Without a priority, you are a general creditor and your claim will be paid, along with the claims of other general creditors, from any monies still available after priority claims are paid. Even customer funds that [Member] keeps separate from its own operating funds may not be safe from the claims of other general and priority creditors.

At or before the time a customer first engages in a forex transaction, a Member and its Associates should disclose how the Member will be compensated for the services it will provide to the customer.

Additionally, a Forex Dealer Member must describe to the customer the nature of these foreign currency transactions. Therefore, a Forex Dealer Member must provide, and the customer must separately acknowledge receipt of, either the following disclosure language or other appropriate language (based upon the Forex Dealer Member's business model) approved by NFA staff, which must be prominently displayed in all uppercase letters and in 10 point size type or larger but in any event no smaller than any surrounding type:

THE FOREIGN CURRENCY TRADING YOU ARE ENTERING INTO IS NOT CONDUCTED ON AN EXCHANGE. [MEMBER] IS ACTING AS A COUNTERPARTY IN THESE TRANSACTIONS AND, THEREFORE, ACTS AS THE BUYER WHEN YOU SELL AND THE SELLER WHEN YOU BUY. AS A RESULT, [MEMBER]'S INTERESTS MAY BE IN CONFLICT WITH YOURS. UNLESS OTHERWISE SPECIFIED IN YOUR WRITTEN AGREEMENT OR OTHER WRITTEN DOCUMENTS [MEMBER] ESTABLISHES THE PRICES AT WHICH IT OFFERS TO TRADE WITH YOU. THE PRICES [MEMBER] OFFERS MIGHT NOT BE THE BEST PRICES AVAILABLE AND [MEMBER] MAY OFFER DIFFERENT PRICES TO DIFFERENT CUSTOMERS.

IF [MEMBER] ELECTS NOT TO COVER ITS OWN TRADING EXPOSURE, THEN YOU SHOULD BE AWARE THAT [MEMBER] MAY MAKE MORE MONEY IF THE MARKET GOES AGAINST YOU. ADDITIONALLY, SINCE [MEMBER] ACTS AS THE BUYER OR SELLER IN THE TRANSACTION, YOU SHOULD CAREFULLY EVALUATE ANY TRADE RECOMMENDATIONS YOU RECEIVE FROM [MEMBER] OR ANY OF ITS SOLICITORS.

Forex Dealer Members should provide both the bid and the offer when the customer enters an order.

Members should update any material information that has changed prior to entering into new transactions with current customers if failing to update the information would make it misleading.

2. Reporting - Forex Dealer Members must provide forex customers with timely and accurate notice of the status of their accounts.

Forex Dealer Members should provide written confirmations within one business day after any activity in the customer's account, including offsetting transactions, rollovers, deliveries, option exercises, option expirations, trades that have been reversed or adjusted, and monetary adjustments. The confirmation should include the information required by Compliance Rule 2-44.

Forex Dealer Members should provide regular monthly statements showing all forex transactions and other account activity to customers for all accounts that have open positions at the end of the month or changes in the account balance or equity since the prior statement. Forex Dealer Members should provide statements at least quarterly for all other open accounts. The monthly or quarterly statements should include the information required by Compliance Rule 2-44.

Confirmations and monthly/quarterly statements may be provided on-line or transmitted by other electronic means if the customer consents to the specific method used.

3. Supervision - Members and their Associates having supervisory responsibilities must diligently supervise the Member's forex business, including the activities of the Member's Associates and agents. Members must establish, maintain, and enforce written supervisory procedures.

NFA has provided Members with guidance on minimum standards of supervision through interpretive notices issued under NFA Compliance Rule 2-9.⁵ In these interpretive notices NFA recognized that, given the differences in the size of and complexity of the operations of NFA Members, there must be some degree of flexibility in determining what constitutes "diligent supervision" for each firm. This principle also applies to the supervision of a Member's forex business.

Although Members have the flexibility to design procedures that are tailored to their own situation, an adequate program for supervision would include procedures for performing day-to-day monitoring. These procedures would include:

- screening employees who will solicit transactions from or provide advice to customers or manage customer accounts to see if they are subject to any of the statutory disqualifications in Section 8a of the CEA and, if so, to determine the extent of supervision they will require;
- monitoring communications with the public, including sales solicitations and web sites, and approving promotional material;
- reviewing the information obtained from and the information provided to customers solicited by the firm and its employees to ensure that the necessary account information has been obtained and the appropriate information provided; and
- handling and resolving customer complaints.

For Forex Dealer Members, these procedures would also include:

- screening prospective Associates to ensure that they are registered with the Commodity Futures Trading Commission as associated persons;⁶
- screening persons who introduce customer business or manage customer accounts to see if the firm or any of its principals is subject to a statutory disqualification under Section 8a of the CEA and, if so, determining if the Forex Dealer Member should perform additional due diligence on that person;⁷
- reviewing disclosures given to customers to ensure they are understandable, timely, and provide sufficient information;
- reviewing and analyzing the forex activity in customer accounts, including discretionary customer accounts; and
- handling customer funds, including accepting security deposits.

A Forex Dealer Member and a listed principal that is also a registered associated person (see Financial Requirements 15(c)) must supervise the preparation of a Forex Dealer Member's financial books and records. Diligent supervision includes hiring and retaining qualified staff. In determining whether an individual responsible for preparing the Member's financial books and records is qualified, the firm and its financial principal should consider the following:

- Is the individual qualified for the position by experience or training?
- Does the individual exercise independent judgment?
- Has the individual ever been sanctioned or refused membership or licensing by NFA, the CFTC, the SEC, NASD or FINRA, the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, or any other financial regulator?
- Has the individual ever been sanctioned or refused membership by the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants or any other accounting organization?
- Has any firm for which the individual performed auditing, accounting, or bookkeeping been subject to an emergency action or sanctioned by NFA, the CFTC, the SEC, NASD or FINRA, the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, or any other financial regulator for failure to comply with financial requirements or for having inadequate books and records while the individual was engaged in those activities?
- Are there any pending actions against the individual or a firm for which the individual performed auditing, accounting, or bookkeeping?

This is not an exclusive list. If the individual or a firm for which the individual worked (either as an independent contractor or an employee) was subject to an emergency action, sanctioned by a financial regulator, or is subject to a pending action, the FDM and the listed principal/registered AP responsible for the FDM's financial books and records should consider the nature and seriousness of the conduct (or alleged conduct) and the individual's role in it. An NFA Member Responsibility Action or an emergency action by another financial regulator is always an extremely serious matter.

The Forex Dealer Member and its financial principal must also conduct due diligence and consider analogous information when selecting an independent public accountant to certify the firm's annual financial statements.

An adequate supervisory program should also include periodic on-site visits to branch offices, guaranteed introducing brokers, and otherwise unregulated affiliates that conduct forex business on behalf of the Member. The Member needs to determine the frequency and nature of these visits. The number of visits will depend on the amount of business generated, the number of customer complaints received, the training and experience of the office personnel, and the frequency and nature of problems that arise from the office.

Finally, a Member's supervisory responsibilities include the obligation to ensure that its employees are properly trained to perform their duties. The formality of a training program will depend on the size of the firm and the nature of its business. Procedures should be in place to ensure that supervisory personnel know and understand the firm's supervisory procedures and that employees receive adequate training to abide by NFA requirements and to properly handle customer accounts.

4. Recordkeeping - Members must keep books and records relating to their forex operations for a period of five years from the date thereof and shall keep them readily accessible during the first 2 years of the 5-year period. All such books and records shall be open to inspection by NFA.

Members should adopt and enforce reasonable procedures to create current and accurate books and records and to keep them from being altered or destroyed. Such records must include, among other things, financial records substantiating a Member's assets and liabilities, including liabilities owed to customers and receivables from other persons. The Member should be able to promptly produce its records in a format that NFA can read and reproduce.

Forex Dealer Members should adopt and enforce a written policy detailing the procedures it follows to calculate rollover or interest charges and payments. The policy must include the factors that are considered as well as the names of any sources for these factors. The Member should document the underlying factors reviewed in completing the calculation, including any related transactions entered into by the Forex Dealer Member, so it can be replicated.

5. Communications with the Public and Promotional Material - No Member or Associate shall make any communication with potential or current customers that operates as a fraud or deceit; uses a high-pressure approach; or implies that forex transactions are appropriate for all persons.

Promotional material used by the Member or Associate shall not:

- Deceive the public or contain any material misstatement of fact or omit a fact that makes the promotional material misleading;⁸
- Include any statements of opinion unless they are clearly identified as such and have a reasonable basis in fact;

- Mention the possibility of profit unless accompanied by an equally prominent statement of the risk of loss;
- Include any reference to actual past trading profits without mentioning that past results are not necessarily indicative of future results;
- Include any statistical or numerical information about past performance of actual accounts unless the Member can demonstrate that the performance is representative of actual performance of all reasonably comparable accounts for the same period (calculated in accordance with the formula in CFTC Regulation 4.35(a)(6) and NFA Compliance Rule 2-34); or
- Include testimonials unless they are representative of all reasonably comparable accounts, the material prominently states that the testimonial is not indicative of future performance or success, and the material prominently states that they are paid testimonials (if applicable).

No Member or Associate may represent that forex funds deposited with a Forex Dealer Member are given special protection under the bankruptcy laws. No Member or Associate may represent or imply that any assets necessary to satisfy its obligations to customers are more secure because the Member keeps some or all of those assets at a regulated entity in the United States or a money center country.

No Member or Associate may represent that its services are commission free without prominently disclosing how it is compensated in near proximity to that representation.

No Member or Associate may represent that it offers trading with "no-slippage" or that it guarantees the price at which a transaction will be executed or filled, unless:

- It can demonstrate that all orders for all customers have been executed and fulfilled at the price initially quoted on the trading platform when the order was placed;⁹ and
- No authority exists, pursuant to a contract, agreement, or otherwise, to adjust customer accounts in a manner that would have the direct or indirect effect of changing the price at which an order was executed.¹⁰

Members and Associates may not solicit customers based on the leverage available unless they balance any discussion regarding the advantages of leverage with an equally prominent contemporaneous disclosure that increasing leverage increases risk.

No Member shall use or directly benefit from any radio or television advertisement that recommends specific forex transactions or describes the extent of any profit obtained in the past or that can be obtained in the future unless the member submits the advertisement to NFA's Promotional Material Review Team for its review and approval at least 10 days prior to its first use or such shorter period as NFA may allow.¹¹

Every Member should adopt and enforce written procedures to supervise communications with potential and current customers and promotional material. A supervisory employee that is, or is under the ultimate supervision of, a listed principal who is also an NFA Associate should review and approve all promotional material and make a written record of such review and approval.¹²

All promotional material should be maintained by each Member and be available for examination for the periods specified in the recordkeeping section of this notice, measured from the date of last use.

6. Know Your Customer - Members and Associates have a duty to acquaint themselves sufficiently with the personal and financial circumstances of each forex customer to determine what further facts, explanations and disclosures are needed in order for the customer to make an informed decision on whether to enter into forex transactions.

Every Member should determine what information it will obtain from a prospective forex customer. At a minimum, the Member soliciting the customer to engage in forex transactions should obtain the customer's name, address, principal occupation or business, current estimated annual income and net worth, approximate age, and an indication of the customer's previous investment and trading experience. Members and their Associates need to ensure that each customer they solicit has received adequate information concerning the risks of forex transactions so that the customer can make an informed decision as to whether forex transactions are appropriate for the customer. These obligations fall on the Forex Dealer Member when a non-Member solicits the customer.

7. Doing Business with Non-Members - Forex Dealer Members are subject to discipline for the activities of most non-Members who solicit or introduce forex customers to the Forex Dealer Member or manage accounts for those customers.

If a customer is solicited or introduced by a non-Member of NFA, or if the customer's account is managed by a non-Member, the Forex Dealer Member is subject to discipline for the non-Member's conduct if that conduct would violate NFA requirements when engaged in by an NFA Member. In other words, a Forex Dealer Member is subject to an NFA disciplinary action for the non-Member's activities when soliciting, introducing, or managing accounts for the Forex Dealer Member's customers even if the non-Member was not the Forex Dealer Member's agent.

The rule allows NFA to bring a disciplinary action even if the Forex Dealer Member acts diligently and has no knowledge of the third-party's conduct. As a practical matter, however, NFA will not take disciplinary action unless the Forex Dealer Member knew or should have known of the third-party's conduct or failed to exercise due diligence when establishing and maintaining the relationship with the third party.

A Forex Dealer Member should adopt and enforce written procedures to review the activities of non-Member third parties. The procedures should include, among other things, a regular review of the trading being conducted in the accounts solicited, introduced, or managed by these non-Members. The Member should also have procedures for following up on any customer complaints received by the firm, including a written description of the investigation made by the Member and any resolution of the complaint. Further, supervisory procedures should include a regular review of all promotional material used by any non-Member third-party. The member should maintain copies of all promotional materials reviewed, along with a written record of the review conducted and any deficiencies corrected, and make them available for examination for the periods specified in the recordkeeping section of this notice. A supervisory employee that is, or is under the ultimate supervision of, a listed principal who is also an NFA Associate should conduct the review of the non-Member's activities.

The Forex Dealer Member is not subject to discipline for the actions of non-Members who are described in NFA Bylaw 306(b). It is also not subject to discipline for the actions of non-Members who would be exempt from Commission registration if they were acting in the same capacity in connection with exchange-traded futures contracts, such as foreign persons that solicit, introduce, or manage accounts for foreign customers only.¹³ The Forex Dealer Member does, of course, have certain basic duties to its customers, including a duty to supervise its own activities in a way designed to ensure that it treats its customers fairly. Specifically, the Forex Dealer Member would violate this duty if it has actual or constructive notice that one of these entities engaged in fraudulent conduct and fails to take appropriate action.

8. Affiliates - Forex Dealer Members must supervise and are subject to discipline for the activities of affiliates that are authorized to engage in forex transactions solely by virtue of their affiliation with a Forex Dealer Member.

The CEA authorizes affiliates of FCMs to act as counterparties to forex transactions if the affiliate directly or indirectly controls, is controlled by, or is under common control with the FCM and the FCM makes and keeps records regarding the financial activities of the affiliate for purposes of the Commission's risk assessment requirements.¹⁴ If a Forex Dealer Member has one or more affiliates that act as counterparty to forex customers solely on the basis of that affiliation, the Forex Dealer Member must supervise the affiliate's forex activities and is subject to discipline for that affiliate's activities.¹⁵ The Forex Dealer Member must also make these affiliates' books and records available to NFA upon request. Additionally, the Forex Dealer Member must assure that its affiliates do not act as counterparties to forex transactions unless they are authorized to do so under the Act.

9. BASIC Disclosure - Members must provide forex customers with information on NFA's BASIC system.

NFA Compliance Rule 2-36(g) requires Forex Dealer Members to provide customers with written information regarding NFA's Background Affiliation Status Information Center (BASIC), including the web site address¹⁶. This information must be provided when the customer first opens an account and at least once a year thereafter.

Forex Dealer Members may provide the information electronically but must do it in a way that ensures each customer is aware of it. For example, merely having the information on the Member's web site is not adequate, but sending customers an e-mail including a link to that information and explaining what the link is would be sufficient in most circumstances.

10. Discretion - No Forex Dealer Member, or Associate of a Forex Dealer Member acting in such capacity, may exercise discretionary trading authority over a customer account for which the Forex Dealer Member is, or is offering to be, the counterparty to the transactions in the customer account.

C. OTHER REQUIREMENTS

This section of the notice provides guidance on dues, capital requirements, and security deposits. These requirements apply only to Forex Dealer Members.

1. Bylaw 1301

NFA Bylaw 1301(e) requires Forex Dealer Members to pay annual dues that are graduated according to the firm's gross annual revenue from customers (e.g., commissions, mark-ups, mark-downs) for its forex activities. Profits and losses from proprietary trades are not to be included. To calculate dues:

- Start with the FCM dues imposed by NFA Bylaw 1301(b)(ii);
- Add $44,375 if the Forex Dealer Member's gross annual revenue from forex transactions is $500,000 or less;
- Add $69,375 if the Forex Dealer Member's gross annual revenue from forex transactions is more than $500,000, but not more than $2,000,000;
- Add $94,375 if the Forex Dealer Member's gross annual revenue from forex transactions is more than $2,000,000, but not more than $5,000,000; or
- Add $119,375 if the Forex Dealer Member's gross annual revenue from these activities is more than $5,000,000.

The following table shows the dues to be assessed for Forex Dealer Members:

Amount of annual Gross Revenue From Forex Transactions	Dues if NFA is the DSRO	Dues if NFA is not the DSRO
$500,000 or less	$50,000	$45,875
More than $500,000, but not more than $2 million	$75,000	$70,875
More than $2 million, but not more than $5 million	$100,000	$95,875
More than $5 million	$125,000	$120,875

These dues apply when the Forex Dealer Member offers to be a counterparty to a forex transaction or accepts a forex trade (whichever is earlier), and NFA will send the Member an invoice for the minimum dues ($50,000 or $45,875) minus any amount already paid for that membership year. Thereafter, the dues will be assessed on the firm's membership renewal date and will be based on the Forex Dealer Member's latest certified financial statement.

The only exception to the dues set forth above is a situation in which NFA does not serve as the DSRO for a Forex Dealer Member and the DSRO has agreed to examine the Forex Dealer Member's forex activities. In this case, the surcharge paid by the Forex Dealer Member, regardless of gross annual revenue, is $12,000. Accordingly, for such a Forex Dealer Member the dues to be assessed at the time it offers to be a counterparty to a forex transaction or accepts a forex trade (whichever is earlier), and on its membership renewal date thereafter, will be $13,500.

Under NFA Compliance Rule 2-36(d), a Forex Dealer Member is subject to discipline for the activities of any person that solicits or introduces a customer to the Member or manages a customer's account unless that person is a Member or Associate of NFA, is otherwise regulated based on the criteria in Bylaw 306(b), or would be exempt from CFTC registration if it were acting in the same capacity in connection with exchange-traded futures contracts. Any Forex Dealer Member that is responsible under Compliance Rule 2-36(d) for solicitors and account managers is required to pay a separate annual fee on the firm's annual renewal date based on the number of unregulated solicitors and account managers. In determining whether this fee applies, the Forex Dealer Member should take the highest number of separate legal entities, including individuals acting as sole proprietors, that it was responsible for at any one time during the year. The following table shows this graduated fee.

Number of Unregulated Entities	Annual Fee
1-4	$ 5,000
5-19	$10,000
20-99	$25,000
100 or more	$50,000

Each Forex Dealer Member is also required to pay an assessment of .0001% on the notional value of each forex transaction (as forex is defined in Bylaw 1507(b)). This equates to $.01 for each $10,000. For transactions with a notional value less than $10,000, the firm may aggregate separate transactions and pay $.01 on each multiple of $10,000. For transactions of $10,000 or above, the firm should round to the nearest cent.

This assessment is due only on initiating transactions. There is no assessment on rollovers, offsetting transactions, option expirations, or option exercises that do not result in new positions. The Member must remit the assessment to NFA within 30 days after the end of the month in which the transaction was initiated.

2. Financial Requirements Section 11(a)

Forex Dealer Members must maintain adjusted net capital equal to or in excess of the greatest amount specified in subsections (a)(i), (a)(ii), and (a)(iii) (if applicable). Subsection (a)(ii) applies to Forex Dealer Members that execute any customer transactions other than by using straight-through-processing and that also have liabilities to customers of more than $10 million. Where it applies, the Member's capital requirement is the minimum capital required by subsection (a)(i) plus 5% of the liabilities over $10 million. The formula is:

Amount required by (a)(i) + .05(customer liabilities - $10,000,000)

For example, if the minimum capital requirement is $20 million, a Forex Dealer Member that operates a dealing desk and has $208 million in liabilities to customers would be required to maintain adjusted net capital equal to or in excess of $29.9 million.

Forex Dealer Members with over $10 million in customer liabilities are subject to this alternative requirement unless they execute all customer transactions using straight-through-processing. Straight-through-processing refers to platforms that automatically (without human intervention and without exception) enter into an identical but opposite transaction with another counterparty, creating an offsetting position in the Forex Dealer Member's own name. A Forex Dealer Member that offers several platforms will be exempt from this requirement only if each platform executes all customer orders using straight-through-processing.

This requirement that all customer trades be executed by straight-through-processing is not, however, meant to limit a firm's ability to provide for other methods in its disaster recovery procedures. As long as those other methods are used only when dictated by those procedures and both the procedures and the firm's trading platform are designed to ensure that the need will rarely arise, the FDM will not lose its exemption by implementing other execution methods in disaster recovery situations.

3. Financial Requirements Section 11(b)

Section 11(b) prohibits a Forex Dealer Member from including assets held by an affiliate (unless approved) or an unregulated person in the firm's current assets for purposes of determining its adjusted net capital under CFTC Rule 1.17. This means an FDM may not count any part of those assets for capital purposes.¹⁷

An unregulated person is any person that is not:

- (i) a financial institution regulated by a U.S. banking regulator;
- (ii) a broker-dealer registered with the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission and a member of FINRA;
- (iii) a futures commission merchant registered with the U.S. Commodity Futures Trading Commission and a Member of NFA;
- (iv) an insurance company regulated by any U.S. state;

(v) an entity regulated as a foreign equivalent of any of the above if regulated in a money center country as defined in CFTC Regulation 1.49; or

(vi) any other entity approved by NFA.

Any Forex Dealer Member may ask NFA to approve an otherwise unregulated person for purposes of Financial Requirements Sections 11(b) and (c). In determining whether to approve an unregulated person that is not an affiliate, NFA will consider a number of factors, including:

- Whether the person is regulated in another jurisdiction and, if so, the type and extent of regulation;
- The person's capital; and
- The person's credit rating.

NFA's approval of a particular person means that all unaffiliated Forex Dealer Members may treat that person as regulated under Sections 11(b) and (c). NFA may also approve categories of counterparties (e.g., banks regulated in a particular jurisdiction or with a particular credit rating).

A Forex Dealer Member may not engage in Section 11(b) or (c) transactions with a regulated affiliate without NFA's approval. The Member may, however, ask NFA to authorize it to cover its positions with specified affiliates (including unregulated affiliates). An affiliate is any entity that controls, is controlled by, or is under common control with the Forex Dealer Member. The standards for approving affiliated persons are significantly higher than those for unaffiliated persons. For example, NFA will also consider:

- The parent company's and affiliated person's capital;
- Whether the parent company and the affiliated person are regulated entities;
- Whether the parent company will guarantee the obligations of the affiliated person (unless the parent company and the affiliated person are the same entity);
- The parent company's credit rating;
- Whether the affiliated person has strong risk-management policies to limit its value-at-risk; and
- For purposes of Section 11(c), whether the affiliated person limits the amount of offsetting transactions it enters into with unregulated counterparties.

4. Financial Requirements Section 11(c)

Section 11(c) prohibits Forex Dealer Members from using affiliates (unless approved) and unregulated persons to cover their foreign currency positions for purposes of CFTC Rule 1.17(c)(5).

The rule does not prohibit Forex Dealer Members from entering into positions with unregulated or unapproved counterparties. They may not, however, count positions with those counterparties when calculating their covered positions for purposes of CFTC Rule 1.17(c)(5).

For purposes of Section 11(c), Forex Dealer Members have four different types of counterparties. In particular:

- Account holders are those counterparties for whom it carries accounts and includes both retail customers and eligible contract participants.
- Trading partners are counterparties with whom the Member trades but who do not have accounts with the Member. For purposes of the calculations under Section 11(c), this category does not include affiliates (approved or unapproved) or regulated counterparties.
- Affiliates are entities that control, are controlled by, or are under common control with the Forex Dealer Member. For purposes of Section 11(c) only, this category does not include affiliates who have been approved by NFA under Section 11(b).
- Regulated entities are those counterparties that meet the definition in Section 11(b) and include entities-including affiliates-approved by NFA under that Section.

A Forex Dealer Member may net its exposure across account holders, across trading partners, and across affiliates, but it may not net its exposure between these categories. The Member may, however, net its exposure in any of these categories against regulated counterparties. Here is the information in chart form.

Type of Counterparty	Account Holders	Trading Partners	Affiliates	Regulated Entities
Account Holders	Yes	No	No	Yes
Trading Partners	No	Yes	No	Yes

Affiliates	No	No	Yes	Yes
Regulated Entities	Yes	Yes	Yes	Yes

A Forex Dealer Member is required to take a charge on the larger of its unnetted long or short position but not on both.

Example

Assume a Forex Dealer Member has the following Euro positions:

Type	Long	Short	Net Long	Net Short
Account Holders	11,154,912	6,011,794	5,143,118
Trading Partners	4,987,345	7,299,886		2,312,541
Affiliates	3,790,754	2,640,553	1,150,201
Regulated Entities	1,280,555	4,125,018		2,844,463

In determining the uncovered amount for purposes of the 6% haircut, the Forex Dealer Member can offset its net long position with account holders against the net short position with regulated entities but cannot offset its position with its trading partners or its position with unapproved affiliates against any category except regulated entities.

The math works this way (using only absolute numbers):

Net long position with account holders	5,143,118
Minus net short position with regulated entities	-2,844,463
	2,298,655
Uncovered long position with account holders	2,298,655
Plus net long position with affiliates	+1,150,201
Total uncovered long position	3,448,856
Net short position with trading partners	2,312,541
Larger of net long or short position	3,448,856
Haircut on Euros (3,448,856 X .06)	$206,931

5. Financial Requirements Section 12

Forex Dealer Members must collect security deposits from forex customers equal to 1% of the notional value of transactions in specified foreign currencies and 4% of the notional value of all other transactions. Where the two currencies are in different categories, the Forex Dealer Member must collect the higher amount. If the transaction pairs a foreign currency with the U.S. dollar, the security deposit is based on the foreign currency. If the transaction pairs a currency that qualifies for a 1% deposit with a currency that does not, the Forex Dealer Member must collect a 4% security deposit for the entire transaction. For example:

Currency Pair	Security Deposit
EUR/USD	1%
CND/JPY	1%
CND/BRL	4%
USD/MXN	4%
BRL/MXN	4%

For short options, the Forex Dealer Member must collect this amount plus the premium the customer received. For long options, the Forex Dealer Member must simply collect the entire premium from the customer.

¹ The Board of Directors has declared that these transactions are a proper subject of NFA regulation and oversight under Article XVIII, paragraph (k).

² Compliance Rule 2-39 excludes these same entities when they introduce or manage forex accounts.

³ Bylaw 306(b)(ii) excludes broker-dealers that are members of any fully-registered national securities association and FCMs that are members of another registered futures association. At this time, however, FINRA is the only fully-registered national securities association and NFA is the only registered futures association.

⁴ These are affiliates of broker-dealers for which the broker-dealer makes and keeps records under the Securities and Exchange Commission's risk assessment requirements. See Section 17(h) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 and SEC Rule 17h-1T.

⁵ See, for example, Compliance Rule 2-9: Supervision of Branch Offices and Guaranteed IBs, NFA Manual paragraph 9019; Compliance Rule 2-9: Supervisory Procedures for E-Mail and the Use of Web Sites, NFA Manual paragraph 9037; Compliance Rule 2-9: Supervision of the Use of Automated Order-Routing Systems, NFA Manual paragraph 9046. These interpretive notices do not directly apply to forex activities, but the principles included in these notices are equally applicable to those activities.

⁶ The Commodity Futures Trading Commission has stated that all employees of an FCM who solicit or accept orders for forex transactions from retail customers must be registered with the Commission as an associated person of the FCM. See Division of Trading and Markets Advisory Concerning Foreign Currency Trading by Retail Customers (March 2002).

⁷ The screening process should include 1) checking BASIC and any other readily available sources and 2) asking the third-party to represent that neither it nor any of its principals is subject to a statutory disqualification or to identify and explain any statutory disqualifications.

⁸ Through interpretive notices issued under NFA Compliance Rule 2-29, NFA has provided Members with guidance on what activities are deceptive and misleading. See, for example, NFA Compliance Rule 2-29: Deceptive Advertising, NFA Manual paragraph 9033; NFA Compliance Rule 2-29: Deceptive Advertising, NFA Manual paragraph 9034; Compliance Rule 2-29: High Pressure Sales Tactics, NFA Manual paragraph 9038; and NFA Compliance Rules 2-29 and 2-9: NFA's Review and Approval of Certain Radio and television Advertisements, NFA Manual paragraph 9039. Although these interpretive notices do not directly apply to forex activities, the principles included in them with regard to what is deceptive or misleading are equally applicable to those activities.

⁹ The Forex Dealer Member is not required to give the customer a price that is no longer reflected on the platform at the time the order reaches it. The Forex Dealer Member is not responsible for transmission delays outside its control. If an Forex Dealer Member, however, advertises "no-slippage" or that it guarantees fill prices, it must prominently disclose that transmission delays might result in customer orders being executed at a price other than that seen by the customer.

¹⁰ This includes force majeure provisions.

¹¹ Submission of promotional materials for NFA review is not a substitute for a Member's own responsibility to review promotional material. NFA staff will not independently verify the accuracy of statements made in an advertisement; that responsibility remains with the Member. Submitting promotional material to NFA will not provide a "safe harbor" from NFA actions for Members if misstatements or omissions of material fact are discovered subsequently or NFA otherwise later determines that the material is in violation of any applicable standards.

¹² Under traditional legal principles, Members can also be liable for promotional material promoting forex trading systems developed by third-parties. For example, a Member has direct responsibility for misleading promotional material if the Member prepares or distributes it; has agency responsibility if the system developer is an agent of the Member under established principles of agency law; and has supervisory responsibility if the Member fails to supervise its own employees when linking to a third-party trading system developer's web site, recommending a third-party's trading system, or entering into a referral agreement with a third-party system developer. See Interpretive Notice titled "NFA Bylaw 1101, Compliance Rules 2-9 and 2-29: Guidelines Relating to the Registration of Third-Party Trading System Developers and the Responsibility of NFA Members for Promotional Material That Promotes Third-Party Trading System Developers and their Trading Systems," NFA Manual, paragraph 9055.

¹³ For this purpose, foreign persons and foreign customers are 1) natural persons who are not residents of the United States or 2) legal entities (other than passive investment vehicles) that are organized under the laws of a country other than the United States, do not have their principal place of business in the United States, and do not conduct their retail forex activities from a location in the United States. Those terms do not include a passive investment vehicle that is more than 10% owned by United States persons or that solicits United States persons who are not eligible contract participants as defined in Section 1a(12) of the Act. "United States" includes U.S. territories and possessions.

¹⁴ See Sections 2(c)(2)(B)(ii)(III) and 4f(c)(2)(B) of the CEA and CFTC Regulations 1.14 and 1.15.

¹⁵ Obviously, the Forex Dealer Member must also ensure that no entity with common ownership engages in the forex business unless it is authorized to do so.

¹⁶ Forex Dealer Members can comply with this requirement by providing customers with a copy of NFA's brochure entitled "Background Affiliation Status Information Center (BASIC): An Information Resource for the Investing Public," which is available in print and on NFA's website at <http://www.nfa.futures.org/>.

¹⁷ Where the CFTC's requirements for holding current assets are more stringent, those requirements apply.

NFA COMPLIANCE RULE 2-40: PROCEDURES FOR THE BULK ASSIGNMENT OR LIQUIDATION OF FOREX POSITIONS;
CESSATION OF CUSTOMER BUSINESS

(Board of Directors, November 16, 2006; effective February 16, 2007)

INTERPRETIVE NOTICE

A Forex Dealer Member ("FDM") must follow these procedures when seeking to employ a bulk assignment or liquidation of its customer's positions or a bulk transfer of customer accounts. NFA may waive or modify any of these procedures or impose additional requirements if doing so is in the FDM's customers' best interest or if the circumstances otherwise require.

BULK ASSIGNMENTS AND TRANSFERS

Permitted Assignees

An FDM must notify NFA's Compliance Department ("Compliance") prior to any bulk assignment of customer positions or bulk transfer of customer accounts. An FDM may only assign open positions to an entity that is an authorized counterparty enumerated in Section 2(c)(2)(B)(ii) of the Act. Prior to the assignment or transfer, the FDM must conduct a reasonable investigation and determine that the assignee intends and is financially able to honor its commitments to the FDM's customers as a result of the assignment or transfer. The FDM must document this investigation and provide this information to NFA.

Written Consent or Prior Notice

An FDM may assign customer positions and transfer customer accounts to an authorized counterparty with the express written consent of its customers. Alternatively, an FDM may assign open positions and transfer accounts by providing its customers with prior notice. The FDM must send NFA's Compliance Department a copy of this notice before the notice is sent to customers.

Notice to Customers

The notice should be sent to the customer's independent e-mail address (not a dedicated address provided by the Forex Dealer Member) and by postal mail (at least first class delivery). Generally, the FDM must provide this notice at least seven calendar days before the assignment or transfer. In rare and unusual circumstances, NFA's Compliance Department might determine that a shorter notice period is appropriate. Additionally, there might be circumstances in which the Compliance Department determines that a longer notice period is required.

The notice should include any information that is material based upon the specific circumstances of the assignment or transfer. At a minimum, the notice must include:

1. The reason for the assignment/transfer;
2. A clear and concise statement that as of a particular date (the assignment/transfer date, which should not be less than seven calendar days after the date of the notice) the FDM will no longer be the counterparty to the customer's positions and will not service the customer's account;
3. The name, NFA ID (if applicable), postal and e-mail addresses, and telephone number of the proposed assignee/transferee as well as the name of an individual at the assignee/transferee the customer can contact about the proposed assignment/transfer;
4. A statement that the customer is not required to accept the proposed assignment/transfer but may direct the assignor/ transferor FDM to liquidate the customer's positions;
5. The name, postal and e-mail address, and telephone number of an individual at the assignor/transferor FDM the customer can contact with questions or to liquidate positions; and
6. A statement that failure to respond to the notice within a specified period of time, not less than seven days from the date of the notice, will result in a default action, which must be either (A) assigning the customer's positions and transferring account balances to the assignee (if authorized by contract) or (B) liquidating the customer's positions and returning the remaining funds, whichever is the case.

Where the customer positions and accounts are being assigned/transferred to a firm that is not an NFA Member, the notice must include the following disclosure:

YOUR POSITIONS AND ACCOUNT WILL BE ASSIGNED TO A FIRM THAT IS NOT A MEMBER OF NATIONAL FUTURES ASSOCIATION (NFA), IS NOT REGULATED BY NFA, AND IS NOT REQUIRED TO COMPLY WITH NFA'S RULES.

Where the customer positions and accounts are being assigned/transferred to a firm that is an NFA Member but is not an FDM, the notice must include the following disclosure:

YOUR POSITIONS AND ACCOUNT WILL BE ASSIGNED TO A FIRM WHOSE OFF-EXCHANGE FOREX ACTIVITIES ARE NOT REGULATED BY NATIONAL FUTURES ASSOCIATION.

BULK LIQUIDATIONS

An FDM must notify NFA's Compliance Department prior to any bulk liquidation of customer positions. An FDM may liquidate customer positions with the express written consent of its customers. Alternatively, an FDM may liquidate customer positions by providing its customers with prior notice of the liquidation. The FDM must send NFA's Compliance Department a copy of this notice before the notice is sent to customers.

Notice to Customers

The notice should be sent to the customer's independent e-mail address (not a dedicated address provided by the Forex Dealer Member) and by postal mail (at least first class delivery). Generally, the FDM must provide this notice at least seven calendar days before the liquidation. In rare and unusual circumstances, NFA's Compliance Department might determine that a shorter notice period is appropriate. Additionally, there might be circumstances in which the Compliance Department determines that a longer notice period is required.

The notice should include any information that is material based upon the specific circumstances of the liquidation. At a minimum, the notice must include:

1. The reason for the liquidation;
2. A clear and concise statement that as of a particular date (the liquidation date, which should not be less than seven calendar days after the date of the notice) the FDM will liquidate all open positions in the customer's account and close the account; and
3. The name, postal and e-mail address, and telephone number of an individual at the FDM the customer can contact with questions regarding the liquidation.

RECORDS

For a bulk assignment, liquidation, or transfer, the FDM should provide NFA's Compliance Department with all pertinent records pertaining to the transaction. At a minimum, the FDM should provide the following records.

At the time that the FDM first contacts NFA's Compliance Department, the FDM must provide:

1. representative copies of the customer agreements;
2. a list of the affected accounts, including:
 - a. customer names;
 - b. account numbers; and
 - c. account values as of the end of the previous day;
3. if an assignment or transfer, documentation regarding the assignor FDM's investigation of the assignee's status as an authorized counterparty and its financial ability to honor its commitments to the customers.

Immediately after the bulk assignment, liquidation, or transfer, the FDM must provide a list of the affected accounts and the value of each account as of the date of the transaction.

COMPLIANCE RULE 2-36(e): SUPERVISION OF THE USE OF ELECTRONIC TRADING SYSTEMS

(Board of Directors, November 16, 2006; effective July 1, 2007; October 15, 2007; December 17, 2007; and June 1, 2009.)

INTERPRETIVE NOTICE

NFA Compliance Rule 2-36(e) places a continuing responsibility on every Forex Dealer Member (FDM) to diligently supervise its employees and agents in all aspects of its forex activities, and Compliance Rule 2-39 applies this same requirement to certain Members who solicit, introduce, or manage forex customer accounts.¹ These rules are broadly written to provide Members with flexibility in developing procedures tailored to meet their particular needs, so NFA uses interpretive notices to provide more specific guidance.²

Although the Board of Directors firmly believes that supervisory standards do not change with the medium used, technology may affect how those standards are applied. The forex markets are highly automated, with virtually all trading done on electronic platforms. Most orders are also placed electronically, usually entered directly with the platform via the Internet. Therefore, in order to fulfill their supervisory responsibilities, Members must adopt and enforce written procedures to address the security, capacity, credit and risk-management controls, and records provided by the firm's electronic trading systems.³ This includes electronic trading platforms, order-routing systems incorporated into electronic trading platforms, and separate order-routing systems (AORSs).⁴ For an electronic trading platform, the procedures must also address the integrity of the trades placed on it.

NFA recognizes that Members who solicit or manage accounts may not have control over the electronic platform where the customer places its trades. Nonetheless, if these Members are subject to NFA Compliance Rule 2-39 and are dealing with a counterparty that is not an FDM, they have a supervisory responsibility to conduct a reasonable investigation regarding security, capacity, credit and risk-management, records, and integrity of trades on the platform prior to entering into a relationship with that counterparty and periodically thereafter. Therefore, while they are not subject to the more specific requirements of this Notice, they should adopt written procedures addressing the steps they will take to investigate the platform and how they will respond if they have reason to believe that the platform does not meet the general standards set out after each major heading.⁵

The specific requirements of this Notice do, however, apply to any FDM that uses another entity's trading platform through a "white-labeling" arrangement.⁶ If the entity providing the platform (the white labeler) is also an FDM, the FDM using the platform (the sponsor) may rely on the white labeler to comply with most of these requirements. The sponsor must, however, adopt and enforce written procedures to:

- Provide required notifications and disclosures to customers;
- Maintain records; and
- Respond to situations where it has reason to believe the white labeler is not complying with the Notice.

If the white labeler is not an FDM, the sponsor and the white labeler may agree by contract that the white labeler will comply with the Notice, but the sponsor FDM will still be liable if the requirements are not met.⁷

Each FDM must notify NFA of the trading platform it uses. The platform must identify the platform's owner and developer (if different than the owner) and must state whether the platform is proprietary, used under a white-labeling arrangement, or leased from a third-party under other terms. The FDM must also notify NFA when it changes its trading platform, adds a new trading platform, or drops a trading platform.

Each FDM must also provide NFA with a copy of the written procedures this Notice requires it to maintain. The procedures must assign the responsibility for complying with this Notice to individuals who are under the ultimate supervision of an Associated Person who is also a listed principal.

Given the differences in NFA Members' size, complexity of operations, and business activities, they must have some flexibility in determining what constitutes "diligent supervision" for their firms. NFA's policy is to leave the exact form of supervision up to each Member, thereby providing the Member with flexibility to design procedures tailored to its own situation. It is also NFA's policy to set general standards rather than to require specific technology. Therefore, other procedures besides the ones described in this Interpretive Notice may comply with the general standards for supervisory responsibilities imposed by Compliance Rules 2-36 and 2-39.⁸

Security

General Standard. Members who handle customer orders must adopt and enforce written procedures reasonably designed to protect the reliability and confidentiality of customer orders and account information. The procedures must also assign responsibility for overseeing the process to one or more individuals who understand how it works and who are capable of evaluating whether the process complies with the firm's procedures.

Authentication. Electronic trading systems, or other systems the customer must go through to access electronic trading systems, should authenticate the user. Authentication can be accomplished through a number of methods, including:

- Passwords;
- Authentication tokens, such as SecurID cards; or
- Digital certificates.

Encryption. The system should use encryption or equivalent protections for all authentication and for any order or account information that is transmitted over a public network (including the Internet), a semi-private network, or a virtual private network. If more appropriate and effective security procedures are developed or identified, the use of those procedures would comply with this standard.

Firewalls. Firewalls or equivalent protections should be used with public networks, semi-private networks, and virtual private networks. The system should log the activities that pass through a firewall, and the log should be reviewed regularly for abnormal activity. If more appropriate and effective security procedures are developed or identified, the use of those procedures would comply with this standard.

Authorization. Although it is the customer's responsibility to ensure that only authorized individuals have access to the electronic trading system using the customer's facilities and authentication devices (e.g., passwords), the Member's procedures should, as appropriate, provide customers with a means to notify the Member that particular individuals are no longer authorized or to request that authentication devices be disabled. Customers should be informed about the notification process.⁹

Periodic Testing. The Member should conduct periodic reviews designed to assess the security of the electronic trading system.

Administration. The Member should adopt and enforce written procedures assigning the responsibility for overseeing the security of the electronic trading system to appropriate supervisory personnel. The procedures should also provide that appropriate personnel keep up with new developments, monitor the effectiveness of the system's security, and respond to any breaches. Additionally, the procedures should provide for updating the system as needed to maintain the appropriate level of security.

Capacity

General Standard. Members who handle customer orders must adopt and enforce written procedures reasonably designed to maintain adequate personnel and facilities for the timely and efficient delivery of customer orders and reporting of executions. Members who operate trading platforms must adopt and enforce written procedures reasonably designed to maintain adequate personnel and facilities for the timely and efficient execution of customer orders. The procedures must also be reasonably designed to handle customer complaints about order delivery, execution (if applicable), and reporting and to handle those complaints in a timely manner.

Members may not misrepresent the services they provide or the quality of those services. If a Member represents that it maintains a particular capacity or performance level, it must take the measures necessary to achieve that level.¹⁰

Capacity Reviews. The Member should adopt and enforce written procedures to regularly evaluate the capacity of each electronic trading system and to increase capacity when needed. The procedures should also provide that each system will be subjected to an initial stress test. Such test may be conducted through simulation or other available means. Capacity reviews should be conducted whenever major changes are made to the system or the Member projects a significant increase in volume and should occur at least annually.

The Member should monitor both capacity (how much volume the system can handle before it is adversely impacted or shuts down) and performance (how much volume the system can handle before response time materially increases), and should assess the electronic trading system's capacity and performance levels based on the major strains imposed on the system. The Member should establish acceptable capacity and performance levels for each of its electronic trading systems. The Member's procedures should be reasonably designed to provide adequate capacity to meet estimated peak volume needs based on past experience, present demands, and projected demands.

The procedures should also provide for the Member to follow up on customer complaints about access problems, system slowdowns, system outages, or other problems that may be related to capacity.¹¹ The Member should identify the cause of any problem and take action to prevent it from re-occurring.

Disaster Recovery and Redundancies. The Member should have contingency plans reasonably designed to service customers if either the system goes down or activity exceeds reasonably expected peak volume needs. The Member should use redundant systems or be able to quickly convert to other systems if the need arises. These backup systems can include facilities for accepting orders by telephone.

When operational difficulties occur, the Member should provide prompt and effective notification to customers affected by the operational difficulties. Notification can be made by a number of methods, including:

- a message on the Member's web site;
- e-mails or instant messages;
- a recorded telephone message for customers on hold; and/or
- a recorded telephone message on a line dedicated to providing system bulletins to existing customers.

An FDM must notify NFA as soon as reasonably possible, but no more than 24 hours, after operational difficulties occur. The notice should include the date, time, length, and cause of the outage or disruption; what the FDM did to remedy the situation in the short term; what steps the FDM will take to guard against future occurrences; the number of customers affected; and any actions the FDM took to adjust customer trades or accounts.

Advance Disclosure. The Member should disclose, in advance, the factors that could reasonably be expected to materially affect the system's performance (e.g., periods of stress) and the means available for contacting the Member during a system outage or slow-down. This disclosure should be provided to each customer at the time the customer opens an account using a method reasonably calculated to ensure that the customer becomes aware of it.¹² The disclosure should also be prominently displayed on the Member's web site. The Member should also educate customers on alternative ways to enter orders when the system goes down or reaches an unacceptable performance level. This disclosure may be made in the account agreement, on the Member's web site, or in any other manner designed to provide this information to current customers before problems occur.

Credit and Risk-Management Controls

General Standard. Members who handle customer orders must adopt and enforce written procedures reasonably designed to prevent customers from entering into trades that create undue financial risks for the Member or the Member's other customers.¹³

Account Controls. An electronic trading system should be designed to allow the Member to set limits for each customer based on the amount of equity in the account or the currency, quantity, and type of order, and the Member should utilize these controls. The system should automatically block any orders that exceed the pre-set limits.¹⁴

If the trading platform automatically liquidates positions, the FDM should set the liquidation levels high enough so that the positions will be closed out at prices that will prevent the account from going into a deficit position under all but the most extraordinary market conditions.¹⁵ The FDM's platform must automatically liquidate positions, and it must set its liquidation levels to comply with this requirement, if its customer agreement or promotional material states or implies that customers cannot lose more than they invest.

An electronic trading platform that does not automatically liquidate positions should generate an immediate alert when an account is in danger of going into a deficit position. Firm personnel should monitor those alerts throughout the day and take action when necessary.

Review. A Member should conduct periodic system reviews designed to assess the reliability of its credit and risk-management controls.

Recordkeeping

General Standard. Members who handle orders must adopt and enforce written procedures reasonably designed to record and maintain essential information regarding customer orders and account activity.

Transaction Records. Electronic trading systems should record the following information for each transaction:

- Date and time the order is received by the system;
- Price (or premium for an option) at which the order is placed;
- Price (or premium for an option) quoted on the trading platform when the order was placed (if the system is a trading platform);
- Account identification;
- Currency pair;
- Size;
- Buy or sell;
- Type of order (if not a straight market order);
- Date and time the order is transmitted to the trading platform (if the system is an AORS);
- Date and time of execution (if the system is a trading platform);
- Size and price (or premium) at which the order is executed;
- Date and time the execution information is received (if the system is an AORS); and
- Date and time the execution information is reported by the system.

For options, the system should record the following additional information:

- Put or call;
- Strike price; and
- Expiration date.

All times must be recorded to the nearest second. The system must also record any other necessary information (e.g., requotes, that the platform did not execute the order because the customer had insufficient equity in its account). If the transaction is not subject to daily rollovers, the system must also record the expiration date of the transaction, if any.

The system should record this same information for liquidating orders. If customers place them as liquidating orders, the system should identify them as liquidating orders. If they are generated by the system because there is insufficient equity in the account, the system should record that information. If customers enter them as new orders, however, they need not be identified as liquidating orders in the order information even if they result in offset.

Electronic trading platforms should record the following information for rollovers:

- Account identification;
- Currency pair;
- Size;
- Long or short;
- Date and time of the rollover;¹⁶
- Price of the position after the rollover;
- Bid and ask prices quoted on the platform when the rollover occurred;
- Amount of interest credited or debited to the account, if any;
- Any other fees charged for the rollover.

An electronic trading platform should be programmed to provide this information for each individual order and account. It should also be programmed to provide a report, upon request, showing the following information for all transactions other than rollovers executed on that day:

time, price (or premium), quantity, long or short, currency pair, account identification, and, for options, strike price, put or call, and expiration date.

Account Records. Electronic trading platforms should create and maintain daily records containing the following information:

- Account identification;
- Funds in the account (net of any commissions and fees);
- Open trade equity (the net profits and losses on open trades); and
- Account balance (funds in the account plus or minus open trade equity).

For open option positions, the account balance should be adjusted for the net option value and the daily record should include the following additional information:

- Long option value;
- Short option value; and
- Net option value.

Time and Price Records. Electronic trading platforms should create daily logs showing each price change on the platform, the time of the change to the nearest second, and the trading volume at that time and price. Upon request by a customer, FDMs should provide time and price records covering all executed transactions for the same currency pair or option during the time period in which the customer's order was or could have been executed.

Profit and Loss Reports. Electronic trading platforms should be able to produce, upon request, a report showing monthly and yearly realized and unrealized profits and losses by customer. The report should be sortable by the person soliciting, introducing, or managing the account.

The system should generate year-end reports for each customer showing the realized profits and losses incurred during the calendar year and the unrealized profits and losses on open positions. The FDM must distribute these reports to customers by January 31st.¹⁷

Exception Reports. Electronic trading platforms should generate daily exception reports showing all price adjustments and all orders filled outside the price range displayed by the system when the order was placed.¹⁸ Management should review these reports for suspicious or unjustifiable activity.

Assessment Fee Reports. Electronic trading platforms should generate month-end assessment fee reports for each FDM using the platform. The report should summarize the number of forex transactions executed during the month and the size of those transactions.¹⁹

Retention. Members must maintain this information for five years from the date created, and it must be readily accessible during the first two years. These records must be open to inspection by NFA, and copies must be provided to NFA upon request.

Reviews. The FDM should conduct periodic reviews designed to ensure that the electronic trading platform maintains the data and is capable of generating the reports required by this Notice.

Trade Integrity

General Standard. FDMs must adopt and enforce written procedures reasonably designed to ensure the integrity of trades placed on their trading platforms.

Pricing. Trading platforms must be designed to provide bids and offers that are reasonably related to current market prices and conditions. For example, bids and offers should increase as prices increase, and spreads should remain relatively constant unless the market is volatile.²⁰ Furthermore, if an FDM advertises a particular spread (e.g., 1 pip) for certain currency pairs or provides for a particular spread in its customer agreement, the system should be designed to provide that spread.²¹

Slippage. An electronic trading platform should be designed to ensure that any slippage is based on real market conditions. For example, slippage should be less frequent in stable currencies than in volatile ones, and prices should move in customers' favor as often as they move against it.

If an FDM advertises "no slippage," the electronic trading platform should be designed to execute a market order at the price displayed when the order is entered and to execute a stop order at the stop price.²² The FDM's procedures should also prohibit personnel from adjusting prices for any reason once the order reaches the platform.²³

Settlement. An electronic trading platform should be designed to calculate uniform settlement prices. An FDM must have written procedures describing how settlement prices will be set using objective criteria.

Rollovers. If an electronic trading platform automatically rolls over open positions, the trading platform should be designed to ensure that the rollover complies with the terms disclosed in the customer agreement, including those provisions dictating how the rollover price is determined.

Periodic Testing. The FDM should conduct periodic reviews designed to ensure that an electronic trading platform complies with the requirements in this section and otherwise protects the integrity of trades placed on it.

Periodic Reviews and Annual Certification

For electronic trading platforms, a qualified outside party must conduct an independent annual review within twelve months after the FDM begins trading on that platform or within twelve months after the firm becomes an FDM, whichever is later.²⁴ Thereafter, an independent review must be conducted at least annually, and a qualified outside party must conduct the review every other year. The remaining annual reviews and any additional reviews (which should be performed when needed) may be conducted by either an independent internal audit department or a qualified outside party. For pure order-routing systems, the required reviews may be conducted by an independent internal audit department or a qualified outside party and must be done at least annually.

The reviews should audit the system for compliance with the requirements in this Notice. The results should be documented and reported to the firm's senior management or to an internal audit committee or department. The Member should follow up to ensure that any deficiencies are addressed and corrected and should document the corrective action taken.

Each FDM - including each FDM that provides a trading platform to its customers through a white-labeling arrangement - must certify annually that the requirements in this Notice have been met and that the written procedures required by this Notice are up-to-date. The certification must be signed by a principal who is also a registered AP and must be filed with NFA.

Members who solicit or introduce forex customers or manage forex customer accounts must provide annual certifications if they use an electronic trading platform offered by a counterparty that is not an FDM or if they provide or endorse a separate AORS. The certification must be signed by a principal who is also a registered AP and must be filed with NFA. The certification may, however, be limited to the applicable requirements.

² For purposes of this Notice, the term "Forex Dealer Member" has the same meaning as in Bylaw 306, the term "forex" has the same meaning as in Bylaw 1507(b), and the term "customer" has the same meaning as in Compliance Rule 2-36(i).

³ The written procedures do not, however, have to contain technical specifications or duplicate procedures that are documented elsewhere.

⁴ A trading platform executes a customer's trade by assigning the other side of the trade to a counterparty. An order-routing system transmits orders to a trading platform (or to another system or individual). In most instances, the same trading system will perform both functions. NFA understands that separate systems are extremely rare in the forex markets. Nonetheless, since most of the same principles apply, these separate systems are included in this Notice.

⁵ If the Member provides or endorses a separate AORS, however, the Member is responsible for meeting all of the applicable requirements in connection with that system.

⁶ White labeling refers to the practice of leasing the right to place the lessee's name on and market another firm's trading platform as its own and then passing the trades through to the lessor. In the typical white labeling arrangement, the lessee's customers do not have a contractual relationship with, and in fact may be unaware of, the firm that owns and operates the platform. For regulatory purposes, the lessee is the counterparty to the customer's trades and the corresponding transactions with the lessor are separate transactions between the lessee and the lessor to hedge the lessee's customer obligations.

⁷ As a practical matter, NFA will not take disciplinary action unless the sponsor knew or should have known that the white labeler was not meeting its contractual obligation to comply with this Notice or the sponsor failed to exercise due diligence when establishing and maintaining the relationship with the white labeler.

⁸ For example, an FDM that negotiates prices with its customers may have different procedures to satisfy this Notice's record-keeping requirements outside of the platform.

⁹ For purposes of this notice, the term "customer" includes CTAs entering orders for forex customers except when referring to credit-worthiness and ability to accept risk. In those instances, the term "customer" is limited to the owner of the account.

¹⁰ Misrepresenting capacity or performance levels or other material information regarding a Member's electronic systems is a violation of NFA Compliance Rule 2-36(b) or 2-39(a).

¹¹ For example, lack of capacity might result in excessive slippage.

¹² A Member could, for example, provide the disclosure in a separate e-mail to an address provided by the customer. Burying the disclosure in the account opening documents is not sufficient.

¹³ A Member should assess each individual customer's ability to accept risk as part of the Member's obligation to know its customers. (See NFA Interpretive Notice entitled "Forex Transactions," NFA Manual, paragraph 9053).

¹⁴ An AORS used to access an electronic trading platform need not include pre-execution and post-execution controls if the Member providing or sponsoring the AORS has determined, after a reasonable investigation, that the trading platform complies with those requirements and that the Member who controls the trading platform effectively utilizes its controls.

¹⁵ If the FDM unconditionally guarantees customers against deficits it should, of course, take any loss that occurs beyond the amount of equity in the account even when the deficit occurs because of those extraordinary market conditions. Misrepresenting the potential for customer losses is a violation of NFA Compliance Rule 2-36(b) or 2-39(a).

¹⁶ If the system treats the rollover as two transactions, it should provide the date and time of each transaction.

¹⁷ FDMs can use Form 1099-B to satisfy this requirement.

¹⁸ Obviously, this requirement does not include limit orders that are not executable when placed. The FDM should, however, have procedures for reviewing limit orders that are executed at prices inconsistent with their terms.

¹⁹ The report should exclude transactions by eligible contract participants as that term is defined in Section 1a(12) of the CEA.

²⁰ Management should approve each fill outside the price range displayed by the system when a market order was placed and should document the reason for the fill price.

²¹ If the FDM's customer agreement provides for exceptions in volatile or illiquid markets and those exceptions are prominently disclosed, the system may be programmed to be consistent with the agreement's terms.

²³ Members may not, of course, advertise "no slippage" if these conditions are not met. (See NFA Interpretive Notice entitled "Forex Transactions," NFA Manual, paragraph 9053, for a more detailed discussion of this requirement.)

²⁴ For purposes of this Notice, "qualified outside party" means an unaffiliated individual or entity that, through experience or training, understands complex IT systems and is able to test the firm's systems for compliance with the requirements in the Notice.
